U.S. REFUSES TO TAKE PART IN HAGUE MEETING

Hughes Sends Reply to Invitation.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special]—The United States tonight declined the invitation of Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, and Japan to participate in the commission to meet at The Hague on June 15 to discuss a settlement of relations with Russia.

The rejection of the proposal emanating from the Genoa conference was signed by Secretary of State Hughes and Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador to Italy, for transmission to Prime Minister Lloyd George and his colleagues at Genoa.

The decision to decline the invitation was reached by President Harding and Secretary Hughes this afternoon. They deemed it important to advise the statesmen at Genoa of the American attitude before that conference breaks up, giving them an opportunity to review their plan of procedure and meet the views of Washington, if they see fit. Such a change of plan might provide for the expert inquiry suggested by Mr. Hughes. No time was lost, however, in transmitting the Hughes note to Genoa.

Text of Mr. Hughes' Note.

The American declination follows:

"This government has carefully considered the invitation extended to it by the president of the Genoa conference, under the conditions set forth in the agreement of the inviting powers, and has decided to decline the proposed commission to meet at The Hague on June 15.

"This government is most desirous to aid in every practicable way the consideration of the economic exigencies in Russia and wishes again to express the deep friendship felt by the people of the United States for the people of Russia and their keen interest in all proceedings looking to the recovery of their economic life and the return of the prosperity to which their capacities and resources entitle them.

U. S. Has Proved Friendship.

"The American people have given the most tangible evidence of their unselfish interest in the economic reparation of Russia, and this government would be most reluctant to abstain from any opportunity of helpfulness."

"This government, however, is unable to conclude that it can helpfully participate in the meeting at The Hague, as this would appear to be a continuation, under a different nomenclature, of the Genoa conference, and destined to encounter the same difficulties, if the attitude disclosed in the Russian memorandum of May 11 remains unchanged.

"The inscrutable and ultimate question will appear to be the restoration of productivity in Russia, the essential conditions of which are still to be secured and must, in the nature of things, be provided within Russia herself."

"While this government has believed that these conditions are reasonably clear, it has always been ready to join with the governments extending the present invitation in arranging for an inquiry by experts into the economic situation in Russia and the necessary remedies."

Sound Economics Indispensable.

"Such an inquiry would appropriately deal with the economic problems of that restoration of production in Russia without which there would appear to be lacking any sound basis for it."

SOVIETS ORDER LAWS TO GUARD PROPERTY OWNER

MOSCOW, May 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—The soviet executive committee has agreed in principle and directed a commission to draft a law to recognize the following rights of citizens:

To occupy themselves in trade and industrial activity; to own small buildings and to buy, sell and lease them; to build upon leased plots by permission of the local authorities; to possess personal property and money; to conclude all sorts of legal agreements, all of which will be protected in the court.

There was only slight opposition to the proposals. This was led by M. Kazanoff of the trades unions, who said he considered they showed too much yielding to capitalism.

Here they waited the call of the "big three," and when the call came revolvers, bombs, or blackjacks, as the nature of the call required, were distributed.

They Drove to Murphy's Office.

Equipped for war, "Joes" the slugs, drove into an automobile and were driven to 134 West Washington street, the headquarters of "Big Tim" Murphy's unions, the Gas House Workers and the Street Sweepers, and were given, it is said, a list of the places they were to bomb or the men they were to attack.

Last Tuesday night, the night of the murder, the slugs were given a list containing the names of six places to bomb, and that list is now in the possession of the police. It is considered as one of the most damaging pieces of evidence against the "big three."

It was learned that of the six names, there were the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, Tyler & Hippach's, and Sharp & Partridge. The bombers had touched off their bomb at Tyler & Hippach's, 623 Orleans street, and were preparing to bomb the establishment of Sharp & Partidge at 22d and Lumber streets. George Clark was on guard when the fight which resulted in the killing of Clark started.

Raid Miller's Home.

The possession of the slugs' list used the night of the murder and the raid on Miller's home at 1311 Elkhorn also assume yesterday afternoon, while a large quantity of dynamite, percussion caps, and a long length of fuse were obtained is believed to indicate that Miller, who for a week has refused to make any statement, has at last confessed. This, too, is borne out by the chief's statement that "Miller is talking a little."

Yesterday afternoon, after he had been subjected to a lengthy investigation, a number of detectives under command of Chief Hughes raided his home, and in the basement, in a barrel, apparently holding nothing, but refuse, they found the explosives.

May Press Murder Charge.

It also developed that Miller will probably be charged with the murder of John Kukulski, stockyards labor official, who was shot to death in a labor war in 1920. Despite his denials that he has had no connection with labor unions, the police have further established that he was interested in the killing of Kukulski, and are trying to connect him with the Kukulski murder, as his description tallies with that of the assailant, and with other union outrages.

CHANG DECLARES TWO PROVINCES FREE, IS REPORT

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

TOKIO, May 15.—Word has been received here that Gen. Chang Tso Lin has declared the independence of Manchuria and Mongolia from his headquarters at Jehol Chihli, and has requested recognition.

If the report is true, Gen. Chang's move is likely to embarrass Japan, whose most important Chinese interests center in Manchuria. Gen. Chang has never openly recognized the ninety-nine year extension of the old Russian lease, whose original terms end next year. These leases cover Port Arthur, the South Manchurian railway, and many important mines. If of China's tenure is prolonged through China's formal acceptance of the twenty-one demands.

Despite the above, Gen. Chang is generally regarded abroad as Japan's puppet, making possible the idea that Japan is behind the independence move.

ENGINEER PLUCKS BABY FROM RAILS AS TRAIN LOOMS

Caldwell, N. J., May 15.—[Special.]—Here's a thrilling movie rescue enacted in real life. Speeding into Riverdale, N. J., John J. Cotter, engineer of an Erie passenger train, saw a baby, 200 feet ahead, playing with pebbles between the rails. Cotter jammed on the air brake.

The train sprang on the running board and climbed on to the side step board of the pilot. Leaning forward, he scooped up the baby with one arm, saving it from death. The child was Adele Lillian Cushman, 17 months old, granddaughter of Ira Mende, veteran Erie engineer. She had tumbled down an embankment and rolled on the track.

CHARGES WASTE OF THOUSANDS ON CITY PAY ROLLS

Workers Given More than Asked, Alderman Says.

ALD. A. O. ANDERSON.

Thousands of dollars have been "thrown away" by city hall department heads who have refused to apply the Landis wage scales to city pay rolls, was charged yesterday by Ald. A. O. Anderson, a member of the council finance committee.

With the machinery moved over to the committee by its efficiency staff it was disclosed yesterday that a City Controller Harding and the department heads in question have failed to put the Landis award but the crafts which have accepted the award.

The Upper Silesian agreement follows six months of work under the chairmanship of M. Calonder, former president of Switzerland, who was appointed arbitrator by the League of Nations. Although the conference several times was on the verge of breaking up without an agreement, M. Calonder never had occasion to use his authority, from which there would have been no right of appeal.

The Upper Silesian agreement, which members of the league regard as the first major success of the League of Nations, contains detailed arrangements for dispositions of the railways, water, electric current and coal, and postal as well as legal problems for fifteen years. It is designed also to prevent economic crises and provide, even where the men are willing to work for less than the old scale.

Other workers, whom the city administration failed to accept, will though direct to do so by the finance committee. In the crafts which accepted the Landis award but are demanding more than the Landis scales from the city.

The machinery movers were given $7.40 a day under the Landis award. They ask $8.80 of the city. Yet for the months in which the Landis award was being enforced, Controller Harding continued to pay them the old scale at $9.20 a day, 49 cents more than the movers ask, and 80 cents more than they were awarded by Judge Landis.

The stone cutters ask $8.80. Mr. Harding is paying them $10, though the Landis award gave them only $8.20. The iron workers ask only $8.80, yet the city is paying them $10 a day, apparently in the hope of landing the labor vote at the taxpayers' expense.

Ready to Give Raises.

The council gave Mr. Harding and the department heads authority to pay the prevailing wage scales," Ald. Anderson said. "This has been done for the many crafts that have submitted their new schedules, the paving trades are the only ones to ask for an increase in spite of the downward tendency of wages. The asphalt mixers, for instance, want $7.36 a day, instead of $7.04 a day.

The council finance committee will hold a special meeting next Monday in an attempt to clear the muddle.

LEAGUE'S FIRST BIG SUCCESS

GENEVA, May 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—The economic treaty between Poland and Germany, settling the Upper Silesian question between the two nations, was signed today, in the presence of the counsel of the League of Nations and many other interested spectators. The signing took place in the league's building at 3 p.m.

Both the German and the Polish representatives said after the signing of the treaty that it constituted a definite solution of the Upper Silesian problem.

The Upper Silesian agreement follows six months of work under the chairmanship of M. Calonder, former president of Switzerland, who was appointed arbitrator by the League of Nations.

Although the conference several times was on the verge of breaking up without an agreement, M. Calonder never had occasion to use his authority, from which there would have been no right of appeal.

U. S. CHILD LABOR LAW IS HELD NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

Supreme Court Rules It Is State's Province.

Washington, May 15.—The child labor law was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The law, enacted in 1919, was intended to regulate the employment of children in any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment, under the age of 14 or in any mine, to carry over 16 years by imposing an excise tax of 10 per cent upon the net annual profits of those employing such labor.

League experts believe the law will remove possible sources of war between Germany and Poland and France. In that part of Silesia the Versailles treaty contains detailed arrangements for dispositions of the railways, water, electric current and coal, and postal as well as legal problems for fifteen years. It is designed also to prevent economic crises and provide for two joint Polish-German commissions, under the League of Nations, to execute the treaty and the second to settle private disputes.

WEALTHY TOLD USE OF WEALTH BY LADY ASTOR

Nothing Is More Insolent than Riches, She Says.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
(Picture on back page.)

Health, its uses and abuses, was the subject of Lady Astor, England's woman member of parliament, to an informal speech last night at an informal dinner at the Casino club, attended only by those who knew the guest of honor informally and "socially."

It was the third speech that England's foremost woman politician had been called upon to make yesterday. A brief speech on the necessity of world peace closed the luncheon at the Congress hotel, to which representatives of women's organizations of the city and county had been invited, was followed by Lady Astor's main address at Orchestra hall, which was open to the public.

Speaking last night to an exclusive audience of the socially prominent, lady Astor said: "Most of us here are well to do. I can tell you, therefore, that there is nothing more insolent than wealth."

Objects to Spirit of Wealth.

"Often when I see rich people it only thing I envy them is their money. I can always stand more of it. I am not afraid to speak against money. It is the spirit that too often accompanies money to which I object."

With this as a prelude, the "Virginia girl" launched into praise of England.

"Offices, if you wish, England's critics criticize her stupidities. But don't criticize her spirit. England doesn't praise herself enough. She has herself down so much that the poor old Kaiser actually thought we were the greatest nation in the world. In praising the spirit of the English who 'knifed up to the trenches of death' with no show or affectation, the speaker warned the audience against fireworks in people's hands in politics and urged the American public to be fed with too much flat-

In referring to her busy four weeks in this country Lady Astor said: "I am to America expecting to make my speeches and then go home to Virginia to renew my youth. Instead of renewing my youth I've been standing on my hind legs ever since."

Guest at Dinner.

Senators and Congressmen of both parties and Lady Astor were present. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Nager, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. George McKinlorn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, Mr. John Borden, Howard Ryerson, George Higginson and Frank Cramer.

Among the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutchen, Mrs. William Scriven, Harold F. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Elton, Mr. and Mrs. Martin K. Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland.

MESSAGE TO WOMEN

Real women. It was the message from an American-English woman who has achieved success in politics to American women who are interested in politics, and it was the keynote of the address Lady Astor, delivered yesterday afternoon at Orchestra hall before an audience of women representing all departments of life.

"Women like men, vary," said the "lady politician" from Plymouth. "I am interested in the real woman. The woman who attends prize fights; the woman who keeps her husband's nose to the grindstone because of her husband's desire to outshine her next door neighbor—they are just as hampering to our civilization as the old fashioned housewife."

"Such a woman is really more dangerous because more subtle. She frequently looks charming, but her charms soon turn to dust and ash."

An example of a real woman, ready to fight for the moral issues to which men often give lip service and more." Lady Astor cited "one of Chicago's most famous citizens, Jane Addams."

"Civilization," in the opinion of Lady Astor, "isn't much, but it's getting on. Crass materialism is going throughout history materialism has

Lord Astor Discourses on 'My Wife's Clothes'

"Ask Viscount Astor—he knows" is the slogan which the husband of Lady Astor uses to justify when it comes to giving accurate information down to the slightest detail regarding his wife. He was put to the test yesterday and came through 300 per cent when, behind the stage at Orchestra hall, while awaiting his wife's arrival, he gave definite, colorful, and technically correct data on "the clothes of Englan'd's first woman member of parliament."

"When Lady Astor first went to parliament she told Viscount Astor, 'I gather fancy many people were disappointed that she did not try to dazzle the meetings with her gowns. Her regular costume for parliament is a black suit, a soft black silk blouse with a bit of white at the neck, and a small black hat and veil, with another touch of white.'

"In warm weather she wears a black dress, instead of a suit."

He explained this sartorial simplicity by the fact that a "really serious woman" wants people to be interested in what she is saying, and not what she is wearing.

His reasoning is reminiscent of Lady Astor's statement on her arrival in this country. "The impression seems to prevail that suffragists don't dress well," she said. "And in England you'll never find women in evening dresses delivering speeches. If their minds are on their bodies they can't be on your souls as well. Women do dress beautifully here in America, but there is a limit to dressing beautifully."

Black Only for Business.

Black is the only color for business, according to Lady Astor's ideas, declared her husband. Black, he said, is also one of her favorite colors for evening dresses. Lavender and gray rank second and third. Black stands first as a color for the hat, "but she often wears green hats," her husband recalled.

Yesterday at luncheon and at the Orchestra hall meeting, Lady Astor wore a lavender silk crepe gown, made to fit her slender figure, and a lavender velvet hat.

The Astor party departs this afternoon for Toronto, Montreal, and Ottawa. They sail for England May 25.

BOARD OF TRADE WINS VICTORY IN SUPREME COURT

Vital Clause in "Future" Trading Act Killed.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—Section 4 of the future trading act and those parts of the act which are regulations affected by the so-called tax imposed by that section, were today held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in an opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taft, to which Justice Brandeis dissented.

The section was held unenforceable because it was not a valid exercise of the power of the federal government, in that it attempted to regulate transactions over which the federal government had no constitutional control and was an invasion of the police powers of the state.

Section 4 imposed a tax of 20 cents a bushel upon future trade in grain when made upon exchanges not designated as "contract markets" subject to federal control or when not made by actual owners of the grain or by the owners or the renters of land upon which the grain is to be grown.

WITNESS SAYS HE SENT BOOKS TO SMALL AFTER HE HAD LEFT OFFICE

JURY GETS SMALL CASH BOOK OVER STRONG PROTEST

Witness Testifies He Sent Records to Governor.

vault account carried? A—Why, sort of a loose leaf ledger.

Q—About how many banks were carried in that vault account during Mr. Small's second term? A—It would be purely a guess. I should say 250.

Q—Have you any books or records in the treasurer's office now by which you could ascertain that fact? A—No, sir.

Q—In what kind of a book or books was that kept? A—In that same ledger I referred to a few moments ago.

Q—Where is that ledger now? A—I do not know.

Ledger Sent to Small.

Q—What became of it after Mr. Small's term expired? A—I think I sent it to him.

Q—At whose request? A—I don't recall at anybody's request.

Q—How did you happen to send that book to Mr. Small? A—Probably I was asked to do it out the usual custom of the office.

Q—Did that book contain the different banks of the state of Illinois that had state money on deposit? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Anything else? A—The names of the banks and location; number of the certificates; the date and the amount and the total amount in that particular book.

Q—Can you state whether or not it also contained the amount of interest that bank paid? A—It did not.

Q—Where was that record kept? A—That record was made up each month from the sheets; the banks listed, the amount of deposit, and the amount of interest they were supposed to pay.

No Records of Interest Paid.

Q—Have you in the treasurer's office at this time any record of any bank that paid any interest during Mr. Small's second term, from January, 1917, to January, 1919? A—No, sir.

Q—Did you have such a record during his term of office? A—We had these monthly sheets.

Q—What happened to those monthly sheets, if anything, after the expiration of Mr. Small's second term? A—As far as I recollect, they were probably sent to Mr. Small along with the other books sent to him.

Q—What other books were kept during Mr. Small's second term? A—Will you kindly enumerate them, and tell us all about them. A—There were a great many books. Do you want the whole thing?

Q—To refresh your memory, Mr. Luehrs, did you have a book called the "tickler" during Mr. Small's term? A—Oh, yes.

Q—What was the function and purpose of the tickler? A—I showed the distribution of the total cash in the treasury on each particular day, that should agree or must agree with the amount shown in the cash book from day to day.

Q—Where is that book now? A—I don't know.

Presumes It Went to Small.

Q—Do you know whether you sent that to Mr. Small at the expiration of his term? A—I presume I did.

Q—Another book or books you have told me that were kept during Mr. Small's second term? A—The draft book, which was a record of the drafts issued by the treasurer.

Q—Have you any of the draft records kept during Mr. Small's term? A—No.

Q—What happened to them, if anything? A—They were sent along with the others to Mr. Small.

Q—Did you have canceled drafts in the office during Mr. Small's second term of office? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where are those canceled drafts now? A—I do not know.

Q—Do you know whether you shipped them to somebody? A—I presume I did.

Q—To whom? A—To Mr. Small, if they were needed.

Q—Have you any record in your possession in the office of the state treasurer at Springfield, Ill., or any other place whereby you can ascertain the total amount of money loaned out by the state of Illinois to the different banks of Illinois during Mr. Small's second term? A—No.

Small Starts "Safe" Account.

Q—Did you have any other account other than the vault account during Mr. Small's second term? A—Yes.

Q—What was that? A—The safe account.

Q—About when was the safe account started? A—I presume sometime during the year 1918; that is my best recollection.

Q—What time was the safe account started with reference to the issuance of any draft or drafts to a bank called the Grant Park bank? A—The first draft.

Q—What was the nature of the contents of the safe account? A—I was told it was represented by certificates of deposit, the same as the vault account.

Q—By whom were you told that? A—By Mr. Small, the then treasurer.

Q—Where was that safe account carried with reference to any book or books of the state treasurer during Mr. Small's second term? A—it was kept in the daily cash book, "tickler," as you call it sometimes.

Q—Who kept that? A—A number of different persons.

Q—Under the safe account, as in the case of the vault account, was the particular bank or banks listed? A—No, sir.

No Record of First Draft.

Q—To what banks were those drafts payable during Mr. Small's second term? A—The Grant Park bank, as I remember.

Q—Have you any record in the office of the state treasurer now by which you can ascertain the date of the issuance of the first draft payable to the Grant Park bank? A—No.

Q—Did you have any instructions with reference to the making out of Small's second term? A—Yes.

Q—Have you that now in your possession at Springfield? A—No.

Q—Did you keep any record or make any memorandum of the amounts of interest that were sent to the Kankakee bank during Mr. Small's second term? A—No, sir.

Q—During Mr. Sterling's term, from January, 1918, to January, 1921, did you make out any drafts payable to the Grant Park bank? A—Yes, sir. I don't remember how many.

Handy Drafts to Small.

Q—Do you remember handing a draft or drafts during Mr. Small's second term to anybody payable to the Grant Park bank? A—Yes, I probably handed several of them to Mr. Small; some of them amounted to $500,000.

Q—Did you hand any of those drafts to any other individual? A—Not that I recollect.

Q—During Mr. Sterling's term, from 1918 to 1921, did you hand any of those drafts payable to the Grant Park bank to any individual that you remember? A—Perhaps to Mr. Sterling. I don't recollect anybody else.

Q—Did you mail them to anybody? A—Yes, sir, to the Grant Park bank, Grant Park, Ill., by direction of who ever was state treasurer.

Got No Interest from Grant Park.

Q—Did you ever receive any interest money from the bank called the Grant Park bank? A—No, sir.

Q—Did you receive any interest money from the Grant Park bank at Springfield during Mr. Sterling's term? A—No, sir.

Q—During Mr. Sterling's term what, if anything, was done with the interest money received from the different banks in the state that had state money on deposit? A—It was sent to the Rockford National bank, Rockford, Ill., in the form of drafts and cashiers' checks from the different banks.

Q—Who sent them during Mr. Sterling's term—do you know? A—The deposit slip was made out by the stenographer in the office and mailed to me.

Q—How often were they sent to the Rockford bank? A—Once each month.

Q—How often during Mr. Small's second term to the Kankakee bank? A—Once each month.

Q—What name? A—Mr. Small.

Q—Was there a draft payable to the Grant Park bank during Small's second term ever charged to any other account except the safe account? A—Not to my knowledge.

Q—During Small's second term what, if any, plan or system did you have of notifying the respective banks that had state money deposited with reference to paying interest on state deposits? A—A notice was sent to each bank about the last day of each month.

Q—Was there any reference at the bottom about returning that notice with remittance? A—Yes.

Q—Did you ever send out any of those notices to the Grant Park bank during Small's second term? A—No.

Q—Why didn't you send out any notices to the Grant Park bank? A—I have not any recollection on that question.

Q—Did you have any conversation with Mr. Small with reference to the sending of notices of that kind to the Grant Park bank? A—I have not any recollection. I may have been told not to do it.

The Court: Strike it out.

Q—Did you yourself during Small's second term ever see the securities or the collaterals that was kept in connection with the Grant Park bank's deposits? A—I did not.

Q—Did you see the collateral for every other bank that had state money deposit during 1917 to 1918? A—Not all of them. I saw all that was kept in Springfield.

Q—Did you know of and see these certificates of deposit in those other banks? A—I saw most of them.

Q—Did you ever examine the collateral given by the so-called Grant Park bank during the second term of Mr. Small and the term of Fred E. Sterling as state treasurer? A—No, sir.

Q—During Mr. Sterling's term, from January, 1918, to January, 1921, did you make out any drafts payable to the Grant Park bank? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Are you still in the state treasurer's office now? A—No, sir.

Q—What became of them? A—They were probably sent along with the other books.

Q—To whom? A—To Mr. Small.

Tells of Small Payment.

Q—What was the amount of the initial payment of interest by Mr. Small during his second term? A—$300,000.

Q—When was that paid? A—June 30, 1919, by draft.

Q—Have you any record of that in Springfield? A—No, sir.

Q—When that remittance was made of $300,000, was there any record or paper or document of any kind showing the various sources from which that sum came? A—The sum total of it? No, sir.

Q—Who has become of those records? A—I think they were sent along with the other books.

Q—When did he hold that position? A—I think the two years, but I cannot make a direct statement.

Q—Who appointed him, if you know? A—The state treasurer, Mr. Sterling, would be the only man who would have authority to appoint him.

Q—Was there any difference in the keeping of the vault account between that of the vault account of Mr. Small's term? A—No, sir.

Q—What became of those records? A—I think they were sent along with the other books.

Q—When did he enter Springfield? A—June 23, 1919.

Q—Did you enter that record of that in Springfield? A—Yes, sir.

How "Saving Wage" Increases Business.

BY JAMES J. DAVIS.
Secretary of Labor.
Written Especially for The Tribune.
ARTICLE II.

This much is certain, that from now on our people in general will have to shape their way of life, their own ability to earn and to pay, so that henceforward a proper share of the simple good things that all of us have always enjoyed shall fall to the lot of the mass of tomes.

The form in which this award must go to him is in the form of a wage—all what you will—in view of the losses meaning that has come to be attached to the old living wage. I prefer to call the new wage the buying and saving wage.

Of the 41,500,000 persons "gainfully employed" in the United States, 24,800,000, or nearly 60 per cent, are the actual wage earners, skilled workers, semi-skilled workers, laborers and servants.

To those you add the nearly 14 per cent engaged in clerical and kindred work, we have practically 30,000,000, or 73 per cent, of all those "gainfully employed" on a wage or weekly salary basis. In other words, they look to the pay envelope for their income.

Tremendous Buying Power.

These constitute the great buying public in our country. They are the purchasers of goods "made in the United States." It is for these that we should seek to provide not merely the living wage, for if the American workman enjoys anything as much as a saving wage is no more than a just credit to him, which has made him the greatest producer, the greatest buyer, the greatest market maker of the world.

Let there be no doubt as to the American workman's ability and propensity to save. For two years we have been weathering an economic storm. Those of us who observe and think must have been astonished that there has been so little distress among our workers during all this slack business and scanty employment. This is not a matter of observation only.

Pays Bills in Slack Time.

The records in the United States bureau of labor statistics show that the American workman has given an astounding account of himself in the payment of his bills through all the events of this slack period. During the war the same worker was set down as a madcap buyer of silk shirts and fur coats.

He behaved since the war proves beyond doubt that while he may have spent a little more freely than was wont, he was saving. We hear little of distress during this slack period because the workman has been able to finance himself out of what he has saved.

This is one more reason why I feel sure that the saving wage must now

$46,000 IN OIL STOCK GETS BUT $47 IN OIL SALES

Dreams of sudden wealth gained by drilling wells in the Kansas and Oklahoma oil fields ended by a cold financial statement showing the Kanok Oil and Refining company was $1,300 in the hole, although $46,000 had been paid into its treasury, led stockholders to appoint a committee last night to investigate the books and take action leading to dissolution.

The company stockholders are largely workmen at the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company plant. Fred A. Schmidt, former superintendent, sold much stock to them.

Oil lands were procured in Kansas and Oklahoma and wells dug. Last year's financial statement, however, showed $609 spent selling stock and only $47 taken in from sales of oil.

Cop's $5 Aids Starving Widow and Six Children

Ill and without food or fire in the house, Mrs. Stephen Kouba, 3819 West 21st place, sent her 15 year old son out to beg yesterday. He met David Murtaugh of the Cleo station. The sergeant found the woman in bed and five hungry children in the house.

A $5 bill from Murtaugh's pocket brought the first smiles in days. This morning the boy will call for aid at the social service department in the county building. Mrs. Kouba is a widow.

A memorial avenue of elm trees is to be placed on the grounds of the new Evanston Township High School. It was announced yesterday. Funds for the trees in memory of Evanston boys who died while in service will be provided by the Evanston Garden club, which is to hold a garden market Saturday in Raymond park.

HOWAT MAKES LEGALITY TEST OF KANSAS LAW

Topake, Kan., May 15.—Application for an injunction to restrain enforcement of the criminal provisions of the Industrial court law under which he has been sentenced in Cherokee and Crawford counties, was filed in federal court here today by Alexander Howat, former president of the Kansas Miners' union. The apparent intention is to make a test of the constitutionality of the law.

Finds Abandoned Baby in Vestibule of Home

When M. L. Radits entered his home at 455 Henry avenue late last night he heard a cry from what he supposed to be a cat in the vestibule. He ran about the vestibule and found a 5 month old baby boy. Mr. Radits notified the police, who took the infant to the St. Vincent's home.

Forty-seven years on the Chicago police force is the record of John J. Meany, who retires on pension to die at the age of 72. For more than twenty-seven years he has been in charge of the "bull pen" at the South Clark street station, where all the human driftwood has passed and repassed before his kindly eyes. seldom ill or off the job. Meany has been one of the best known police officers in the city. He lives at 2963 Lyman street and has six children and nine grandchildren.

For good and all take the place of old meaningless living wage.

As a definition the saving wage is I am aware, a very indefinite term. There are Americans of every degree who would never save a penny although their yearly incomes might amount to the thousands. There are other Americans who on a very moderate recompence, even on a pittance, would contrive to save some little residue.

Just what constitutes the average saving wage for all we need not to figure. The spendthrift among us is after all the exception. We hear more about him because he is spectacular. The saver goes about his business without creating news.

Saver in Large Majority.

But I am convinced that he constitutes very largely the majority of our people. And that average, saver, and a society awakened to his new and legitimate demands, will somehow reach a balance between them as to what in the long run constitutes a general saving wage.

This is no new thing. For some time the most forward looking of our employers have been working the saving wage as a matter of course, perhaps without knowing it.

My contention is that what these enlightened employers have been doing must become general. Sooner or later all the rest will have to catch up to them. I believe public opinion will compel it. Without our knowing it, great social changes have been working themselves out among us, and prominent in this evolution is the worker demand for his share in the largest benefits of this new day.

He is no longer a mere worker at a bench, an automaton. His intelligence has been expanded by new and rapid experiences. His tastes have been heightened along with the increase in his intelligence. He too has risen to the enjoyment of books, pictures, music, the theater, a chance at the higher education, to cite but a few of his new demands.

With the worker now, enlightened, workman has risen to a new place as a human being and as a member of our rich community. Conscious of having taken that place, he is now entitled to insist upon enjoying all the advantages of it.

Now should we object to this, to it means the permanent enrichment of us all, in that the advancement of human society is always to be measured by the advancement of the worker himself.

DONALD BURNHAM AND HIS FIANCÉE ELOPE AND WED

Donald Burnham, son of E. Burnham, owner of beauty parlors here and New York, and Miss Margaret Free stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Free stone of Paterson, N. J., eloped to Portchester, N. Y., last Thursday and were married, it became known yesterday.

They are now passing their honeymoon at Spring Lake, N. J., but will come to Chicago in a few days, it was stated.

Mrs. Burnham, mother of the eloper, who lives at 932 East 50th street, expressed great surprise at the elopement.

"Of course we knew they were to be married, but plans had been made for a formal ceremony," she said. "But that's that boy for you."

Young Burnham is a graduate of Yale in the class of 1920.

2 Held in Shooting of South Side Merchants

Two men, believed to be members of the gang that shot and probably fatally wounded two storekeepers on the south side yesterday, were arrested yesterday afternoon on information given by the third gangster, Frank Lucas, captured after the shooting.

The men gave their names as Tony Rukos and Chester Shirley. The wounded storekeepers are Anthony Deikas and George Sesekas, 837 West 33d street.

Unidentified Man, 60, Takes Own Life in Lake

Within view of several persons, an unidentified man about 60 years old committed suicide yesterday by leaping into the lake at the foot of Harrison street. The name in his coat was that of H. Reed, Logansport, Ind. The body was recovered by the South Clark street police.

He is no longer a mere worker at a bench, an automaton. His intelligence has been expanded by new and rapid experiences. His tastes have been heightened along with the increase in his intelligence. He too has risen to the enjoyment of books, pictures, music, the theater, a chance at the higher education, to cite but a few of his new demands.

U. S. REFUSES TO TAKE PART IN HAGUE MEETING

Note Sent to Ambassador to Hand to Allies.

Russia consideration must be given to the whole problem from a practical point of view, beginning with the following two outstanding facts:

"The first is that Russia is bankrupt. She has no products or raw materials and minerals which were founded on Russian raw material and repairs, are producing but from 3 to 25 per cent; her railways are transporting less than 7 per cent of their pre-war capacity; her agricultural production is below her own needs; instead of the great normal surplus she has eaten up her entire fat and can for a long time have nothing to exchange for the services of our workmen or the writings of our investors." Therefore, if we would supply work, capital, and talent to the reconstruction of productivity in Russia they must be given upon credit.

U. S. Entitled to Security.

"Second, when our people are called upon to place their savings in such investments they will be likely to ask for security for repayment and evidence that there will be a return to productivity in order that payment may be made. We arrive at once at the primary consideration of those economic essentials that will make productivity possible and that will give security to investment."

Mr. Hoover said the Russian people are suffering chiefly from the destruction of their economic system by the soviets.

"Even outside the drought stricken areas the Russian people are slowly dying," he continued. "They are being destroyed from inside of Russia, not outside. For they die from the destruction of productivity. The people are sick with war and terror; their hope of relief is in evolution, not in revolution."

"Today the social pendulum is swinging back. Communism has been abandoned for a cross breed of individualism and milder but equally unworkable forms of socialism."

Saving a Nation's Soul.

"Nor must communism or socialism be confused with the Russian people. Most of them believe in the beliefs in Russia have diminished to a very small minority. But whether the adherents are small or large, Russia must work out her own political and economic system."

In the meantime, while Russia ing to declare it the sense of the senate that the United States should recognize the soviet government. The senator made a speech in support of the resolution, which he said he would press vigorously. The resolution was tabled.

In the discourse of discussion of his resolution Senator Borah brought up the failure of the Genoa conference, a failure, he asserted, due to two causes, first, the failure to discuss the German reparations problem and the recognition of the Treaty of Versailles for the sake of keeping the German obligation, and, secondly, the matter of recognition of the soviet government.

This condition is due to the fact that Valentino obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Jean Ackers, his first wife, on Jan. 10, 1922, and that decree will not become final until next January.

In the meantime, according to the judges, Valentino is still married to Miss Ackers, and therefore cannot legally contract another marriage in California or anywhere else.

Whether Valentino would be disciplined by the courts was not stated.

Inquiry at the Lasky studios, where Valentino is employed, brought the information that he was out of town for three weeks. He was reported to be doing some scene location work in the Imperial valley.

GENEVIEVE COURT.

One year in the penitentiary and $1,000 fine was the sentence imposed in Judge McKinley's court yesterday in the case of Peter Pinna for kidnapping pretty Genevieve Court, 15 years old.

"Not enough," said the girl's mother, Mrs. Catherine Court, 1726 West Adams street, and she rushed forward and attacked Pinna, striking him in the face several times before bailiffs pulled her away.

slowly swings toward the standards that we believe are vital to her recovery and to prevent it is possible to undertake her rebuilding. America has not been remiss.

"Before the next harvest the American relief administration under my direction will have expended more than $50,000,000 in American charity on the saving of Russian people from starvation and in providing seed for the next harvest."

"This operation will perhaps do more than save 10,000,000 of humanity from death. It will, through this act of charity, have saved the soul of the Russian people from an abyss of despair, too terrible for human expression, is the tangible evidence of the sympathy of the American people and our desire to help."

The senate became involved in a discussion of the Russian question following the introduction by Senator Borah (Idaho) of a resolution propos-

PARIS, May 15.—The Spanish torero, Banegas, died today as a result of being gored by a bull in the Coinou arena yesterday.

Senor Banegas was waving a red cloak before an enraged animal when another bull charged from behind, piercing him with its horns.

Two bulls in the ring at the same time is the French form of bull fighting. Although prohibited in France, the authorities wink at the violations, and each Sunday fine the promoters and toreros a percentage of the gate receipts.

Russia Agrees to Sit at New Hague Parley

Soviets See Little Hope in Second Meeting.

GENOA. May 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—Russia will participate in the proposed conference at The Hague to discuss the Russian question. M. Rakovsky made this announcement tonight after the closing of the entire Bolshevik delegation.

M. Rakovsky declared that in his judgment, which he said was also the judgment of his fellow delegates, unless the Russian idea of a real mixed commission were adopted, instead of the double commission idea proposed by the powers, The Hague conference was bound to prove as sterile as the Genoa conference.

M. Rakovsky emphasized that the Soviet delegation had found absolutely unacceptable the proposition of the powers whereby no treaties of any sort could be entered into with Russia whether political or economic in character during The Hague conference if persisted in. He was confident it would prevent a fierce fighting throughout Russia against this gathering because Russians would regard it as a kind of masked blockade against them.

He said Communist Russia was heartily in favor of a permanent non-aggression pact by which nations would mutually engage to respect each other's territorial integrity. Russia had decided sought only peace and security and was always willing to accept peace to others.

Lloyd George Explains Plan.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, appearing personally at the gathering of British and American correspondents this afternoon, explained the agreement for the new conference at The Hague. He made it clear that the agreement submitted to the Russians was the maximum the Genoa conference could offer. He said that in his opinion two commissions, sitting at The Hague and frequently meeting together, compiled in effect with the Russian suggestion of a commission to discuss financial affairs.

ALLIES ACCEPT GERMANY'S IDEA ON REPARATIONS

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, May 15.—The German counter proposals regarding reparations are regarded as acceptable to the allies. A decision was taken this afternoon after Minister of Finance Hermes had consulted M. Dubois, the French member of the reparations commission, and M. Dubois had consulted Premier Poincaré.

Herr Hermes declared that in his judgment, which he said was also the judgment of his fellow delegates, unless the Russian idea of a real mixed commission were adopted, instead of the double commission idea proposed by the powers, The Hague conference was bound to prove as sterile as the Genoa conference.

ANOTHER INVITATION.

Observation of the course of proceedings at Genoa has not put the American public in a receptive attitude toward invitations to enter European conferences. Without going back to Versailles, what we saw at Genoa was an impasse stubbornly maintained on matters essential, as we believe, to restoration. Genoa, we observed, was not an effort at concession, compromise, and cooperation, but a continuation of a struggle for claims and a tremendous battle of politicians, a battle having two fronts, one toward international relations, the other toward domestic politics.

Except for incurable sentimentalists, foreign partisans, and doctrinaire internationalists, Americans had God and the administration we were out of it. The outcome of the conference has not chilled our thanksgiving.

The government's declination of the powers' invitation to the conference at The Hague next month affords new cause for thanksgiving. The Genoa conference was called to work out the economic and financial basis of European restoration. It failed to do so for political reasons which would confront a conference at The Hague. A change of climate will not produce a change of spirit or purpose in the governments that played the game at Genoa. There will be the same players and the same game at The Hague.

What was hoped, if not confidently expected, of Genoa was the evolution of a plan for reconstruction through political peace, fiscal reform, and economic agreement. No such plan is offered us; instead we are invited to come over and help make one. We might as well have gone to Genoa in the first place.

America's policy remains unchanged. We shall keep out of the European game of politics. We have nothing to gain and much to lose by sitting in to that. We are ready to lend aid economically and financially when, and only when, the European governments have so composed their differences as to present a solid groundwork for credit.

No invitation should be wasted on us until it is accompanied by a sound plan for economic and financial reconstruction. It is apparent this cannot be formulated until political differences are compromised. It is Europe's responsibility to make that adjustment. After that America will consider cooperation.

In other words, the Europe strikingly disclosed at Genoa and left unmodified by Genoa offers no basis for the enormous credits sought from America. We have poured billions into that Europe and they seem to have disappeared. We are asked to pour more billions, but we are not foolish enough to do so until bottom has been found. Europe is now a concern to which a sane lender will lend money. It can be made so. Genoa should have gone a long way toward making it so. It did not. The statesmen preferred to go on with the deadly squabbles and futile tactics begun at Versailles. That is not our fault and it remains our duty, to ourselves and indeed to Europe itself, to stand away until they have reached a sorer mood. At present they offer us no inducement.

There is no rule upon us held by Lloyd George in the next election, nor Poincaré holds his place, by our paying the German reparations with which the French can keep up the strongest military force in the world while avoiding the pains of taxation, nor make with our backs a bridge over the channel between soviet republics and the thrifty Frenchman's natural wish to be paid what he has learned.

We admit the difficulties. But they are not of our making and they are not for us to solve. We can do nothing until those who made them have set about solving them. If they are not solved Europe may, probably will be ruined. But that is no reason why we should be any deeper involved than we are now.

Our interest is to aid in the restoration of Europe, not to furnish means for prolonging the suicidal policies which have been pursued since the armistice, and, if we may judge by Genoa, are hardly shaken today.

OUR RAMS' HEADS.

Sarcastic elements in the local citizenry are twisting Thompson for decorating the tops of the Michigan boulevard bridge houses with goats' heads. They wonder if his thought could express his opinion of the populace under his rule so candidly and not have it noticed or whether he intended it to be noticed and did not care who knew what he thought.

The sarcastic citizenry does injustice to Mr. Thompson's sense of discretion. If he and Eugene Pike already had started on the yachting trip to the South Sea islands, he, in a languid, contemplative mood, might say what he thinks of the populace, but not now. He wouldn't now say that the proletarian is the goat and furthermore he didn't. These attractive little bridge houses are not topped by goats' heads. It does our citizenry little good to have the world's greatest stockyards here.

Rams' heads were chosen for the decorations and it is a neat and choice symbolism, representing something which can say it with a horn and make it feel as if it had been said with a steam hammer.

We suspect that even in the conventional design there is some expert kidding far more subtle than is revealed to people who think the rams are goats. The walls of Jericho fell to the rams' horn. Is the portent for Bill who encourages the boosters to toot? And what delicacy of satire set upon our most conspicuous bridge, in addition to the horns dear to our administration, the offerings of a generous soil suggestive of dance and Provencal song and sunburnt mirth?

Why grapes for this true Volsteadian city? Why these reminders of beakers full of the warm south, of the blushing Hippocrate? Are beaded bubbles winking in spite of sumptuary arrangements to the contrary?

On the bridge houses we have horns for Bill—may he soon feel and not hear them—fruits for South Water street, grapes for the chief bootlegger and rum seller, a suggestion of our preminence as the world's meat market, and if there be half hidden in the design the muzzles of several one-hand guns the symbolism is perfect.

THUG INSOLENCE.

Three colored holdup men were sentenced by Judge Fitch to the penitentiary for terms of from ten years to life. Their contemptuous attitude in the courtroom during the trial caused the judge to request the prosecutor to write the pardon board a statement of the case and speak for a thorough punishment.

The men had committed a number of crimes before they were caught, but their opinion of Illinois justice was insolent even when they were being sentenced. They knew they had not tried all the doors to freedom and they still hoped to find one open.

The irony is that the prosecutor and the judge should feel it necessary to suggest to the board of pardons that these were cases meriting the punishment which had been ordered and that the men should not be justified in their expectation of escaping. They probably expected to be out for the next winter season.

MCCUMBER'S LOOSE TALK.

Moved by newspaper opposition to certain features of his tariff bill, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, in heat of argument, delivered himself of a few choice remarks concerning the great metropolitan newspapers of the country. "If the great department stores do not own stock in those papers, they are their customers, and through the advertising medium control the policy of those papers," he said. "These papers have gradually become their mouthpieces in favor of practically free trade."

If Mr. McCumber spoke as the representative of the semi-bolshevist state of North Dakota, we could afford to ignore him. If he spoke as Republican leader of the United States senate, he should be taken to task.

Such a blanket indictment of newspapers could proceed only from crass ignorance, peevishness, or a selfish and mean desire to belittle and degrade a great American institution which might be temporarily interfering with his purposes. As an argument his statement sounds more like the emissions of an inmate of a "dope house" than the considered utterance of the chairman of the finance committee of the senate.

That is not always the attitude of Senator McCumber, or of his associates. Every morning, we venture to say, he turns to some one of the newspapers, which he denounces so loosed, to get the news of his state, his country, and the world. He accepts this news as fact, which it is, and bases his thought upon it. He does not discount it all as reflecting department store influence. In a political campaign he will not discount the paper which supports him on the ground that it is lying and misrepresenting for the profit he can give it. On other occasions he will appeal to newspapers to take the lead in constructive enterprises, not for a gratuity but for the general welfare. And they will do it. Occasions will arise, as they have arisen, when even the senate of the United States will look to the newspapers or a newspaper for information which even though august body could obtain from no other source, as in the case when THE TRIBUNE gave the senate its first copy of the Versailles treaty.

America's policy remains unchanged. We shall keep out of the European game of politics. We have nothing to gain and much to lose by sitting in to that. We are ready to lend aid economically and financially when, and only when, the European governments have so composed their differences as to present a solid groundwork for credit.

No invitation should be wasted on us until it is accompanied by a sound plan for economic and financial reconstruction. It is apparent this cannot be formulated until political differences are compromised. It is Europe's responsibility to make that adjustment. After that America will consider cooperation.

MERCY TO WILD FLOWERS.

[Bloomberg's Paragraph.] The Bloomberg Art association after its hike into the woods on Sunday met and resolved to endorse the platform of the national and state associations which have for their object the ending of the destruction of wild flower and plant life. This was sensible action to preserve for the future the very beauties of nature which the members of the club had enjoyed in their afternoon stroll into the woods and fields.

The conservation of wild plant life is one which is drawing increased attention in many quarters. In the past, peoples of the cities have too thoughtlessly uprooted the flowers and plants from which they have desired only to take the joy of a moment in spring or blossom. But the uprooting process has made impossible the same joy to those who come after. In fact, the wild flowers of many sections have been almost totally destroyed, if we are to believe the reports of those who have investigated the subject.

Audubon societies have aroused general interest in the preservation of the lives of wild birds. It needs similar agitation to prevent the destruction of the flowers of the woodlands. What would the woods be in the springtime if the flowers were all gone—the trilliums, the spiderwort, the spring beauty, the bloodroot, the Solomon's seal? Cultivated beauties of the home garden cannot be substituted for the wild charm of the blossoms of the forest and field. Many of these will naturally disappear with the advance of suburban encroachment, but if needlessly torn up by thoughtless hands, or carelessly trampled under foot, then will the barren wastes be a mockery.

Slowly in the crystal-clear heaven

The new moon brightens to shining silver;

A star steps timidly into view—and then another.

The western light is gone.

A curtain of gossamer dusk

Folds softly down on the waiting earth.

BRITISH CALL ON U.S. TO HELP SAVE TURK CHRISTIANS

Aroused by American Report of Atrocities.

LONDON, May 15.—[By Associated Press]—Great Britain has asked for the cooperation of the United States, France and Italy in investigating the recent atrocities by Turks on Christian minorities in Asia Minor reported by the American relief administration recently, it was announced in the house of commons today.

The announcement was made by Austen Chamberlain, the government leader. He said Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, was requesting the American, French and Italian governments each, with Great Britain, to proceed to Trebizond or to some other Black sea port with a view to the investigation.

Protests Without Effect.

Protests have been made, without effect. The British government, while in the proposed terms of peace, had demanded that such appalling barbarity be stopped. This was being practiced by the Turkish Nationalists as part of their systematic policy of extermination of Christians in Asia Minor that the British government had informed the American, French, and Italian ambassadors of its views, with a view to securing the cooperation of their governments in the action now proposed.

Need of Seeing Angora.

Mr. Chamberlain said that permission of the American legations would have been sought and facilities given to investigating officers demanded, which would be difficult to refuse, as the Angora government had contended that either deportations and massacres had not occurred, or that they had been provoked by the conduct of the Greeks and other minorities. If this permission should be refused, he said, the government would have to reconsider its attitude toward the peace proposals, which could not be pursued with any chance of success under such conditions.

The question was brought before the house by T. P. O'Connor, who asked if the government had remonstrated with the Turkish authorities over the murder of 10,000 Greeks, followed by the seizure of their widows and daughters for their transfer to Anatolia and the starving of their children to death.

Without Parallel in History.

The establishment of international tribunals to rescue the remaining non-Turkish populations in Asia Minor is indicated today by the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent. The recent and continuing deportations and massacres behind Mustapha Kemal Pasha's lines are unprecedented, he says, even in Turkish history.

REBELS TO SAVE IRISH REPUBLIC, DE VALERA SAYS

Admits He Backs Acts to Wreck Free State.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

DUBLIN, May 15.—Eamon de Valera gave a comprehensive statement of his position in regard to the Free State today. I believe it is the first time he has definitely admitted approval and even responsibility for acts of the rebellious faction of the Irish.

He firmly denies the right of the Irish people to express their will in the election and justified the policy, which he undoubtedly holds at this moment, of preventing the election by force if necessary. I found him installed in a luxurious suite of offices in Suffolk street, which was evidently a house for a large staff and in which was every evidence of substantial finance.

Mr. de Valera's Statement.

To understand the present position of Ireland one must understand intimately the recent phase of Ireland's long struggle. This phase began with the formation of the Irish Free State in 1922. The force so organized was the ground of the national army to secure the independence of the nation. The leaders and a section of this army chose Easter Sunday, 1916, to strike and proclaim Ireland's independence as a republic. Though militarily defeated, they secured their main objective, which was to arouse the nation to action.

After 1916 the volunteer army continued, mainly under the leadership of the Sinn Fein party of 1916. Using their civil rights, the members of the capacity of individual citizens were the mainstay and driving force of the political organization formally founded in October, 1917. They brought that political organization to victory in 1918.

A volunteer program for the ratification of the republic of 1916 was carried at the polls in the December election by an overwhelming majority. As a result of this, the political representatives of the nation, meeting in a national assembly, solemnly passed the declaration of independence and ratified the establishment of a republic.

Dall Took Army Oath.

Under the circumstances the volunteer army consented to accept control of the army, and the members of the assembly take the same oath as the volunteers themselves were asked to take, an oath to support and defend the Irish Republic and the government of the Irish Republic, which was the Dail Eireann, against all enemies, foreign and domestic, with an oath to bear true faith and allegiance to the same.

The contract between the army and the Dail was thus definite and explicit, and an oath was insisted on because the army was afraid that the politicians who might enter congress would not be as firm or single minded as the army itself.

The surrender at London was the sort of weakness the army had in anticipation and was afraid of. If the members of congress who approved of that surrender have broken their oaths and violated their contract with the army it will no longer regard them as vote and when England's threat of war is removed so that the people's choice may be free.' That is the position which faces Ireland today.

Charges War Threat Scarce People.
"We know the people of Ireland do not want to forego the independence they have declared. We know they do not want their country to become a part of the British empire. We know they do not want to abandon their distinct nationality or exchange the name of an Irish citizen for that of a British subject."

"We know they do not want a British kingdom of Ireland, nor do they want to own an allegiance which they will never render, but the threat of an immediate and terrible war is being used to intimidate them into a false position. The aim of the army is to avert from the people the necessity of making the choice between dishonor and disaster, which infamous alternatives confront them.

"Army Acts as Brake."
"We all believe in democracy, but we do not forget its well known weaknesses. As a safeguard against these consequences most democratic countries devised checks or brakes against sudden changes of opinion and hasty and ill considered decisions.

"The adoption of two houses of parliament and the provisions for adequate majorities, as the two-thirds majority required in your own senate for certain legislation, are illustrations. In Ireland it must be forgotten that there is still in the middle of a revolution."

"We have not yet had an opportunity of devising constitutional check brakes such as those mentioned. The army sees in itself the only brake at the present moment, and is using its strength as such."

4,500 ILLINOIS DOCTORS HERE FOR CONVENTION

Three thousand Chicago physicians and 1,500 from downstate will be at the Congress hotel for the annual convention of the Illinois State Medical Society today and tomorrow. This is the first convention of the society to be held here in eighteen years.

Chicago hospitals will be open to members for clinical study both morning and evening. The afternoons will be devoted to reading and discussing scientific papers. Fifty exhibits of the latest apparatus, instruments, and drugs are on display in the Elizabethan room at the Congress.

CHURCHES VAST TREAS IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, May 15.—[Press]—Silver by the ton, hundredweight, pearls and diamonds in wooden boxes, jute board cartons or mere parcels—all this treasure opening and sorting at the synagogues of Russia for the famine sufferers.

The correspondent of Press was permitted to walk about the storehouse while the storehouse was to be taken in Moscow alone, and more than $9,000 silver, several hundred pounds of diamonds and over ten thousand stones.

Each of the 624 packages is sealed and stacked in tiers reaching the ceiling. The yield of the monasteries was to be packed in smaller packages. A rough list of the estimated accompanies each brought, under heavy guard, to the storehouse, but the exact amount will be known when the parcels are sorted. These experts, and also those who unstack the boxes, are equipped with pocket knives for the task of sorting bags.

Motor trucks fairly bayoneted up to the treasure house day and night to bring the church. From the roof of the building guards.

COUNTY LOSS OF A MILLION COURT FEES HELD LIKELY

Probable loss to the county of more than $1,000,000 uncollected earnings of the Probate court is prophesied in a report of the finance committee of the county board submitted to the board at a meeting yesterday. The report recommends that Devine, circuit clerk of the court, be required to collect all fees in advance, as is done in the Circuit and Superior courts.

The report, which was adopted by the board, probably will result in radical changes in the collection system of the court.

It discloses that since 1877 the total of uncollected costs of probating estates has been allowed to mount up at the rate of about $30,000 yearly, until at present $1,172,276.61 is due. It was pointed out that during the last five years Probate costs have been the cause of small deficits authorized by law, remitted costs amounting to about $425,000, while in the same period the Circuit and Superior courts together have remitted about $30,000 in cases of "poor persons."

Yesterday's action by the board was the result of a request by Mr. Devine that the board authorize the cancella-

TRAIN ROBBER SLAIN, 8 ROUTED, BY A MESSENGER

Tucson, Ariz., May 15.—With two well-directed bullets Express Messenger H. Stewart early today frustrated a regular attempt by eight masked robbers to rob the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Golden State Limited, bound from Chicago to Los Angeles. Stewart killed one of the men, apparently wounded a second, and routed the band empty handed.

The body of the slain robber was identified as that of Tom Dugat, proprietor of a goat ranch near Tucson. Deputies are hot upon the heels of the gang. Passengers were not molested in the holdup, which was attempted near James, a flag station eight miles west of Tucson. Beside the body of the slain robber whose hands were incased in rubber gloves, was found a sack of dynamite with which the robbers evidently intended to blow strong boxes in the mail and baggage cars.

A red fusee, a railroad stop signal, was used by the gang to halt the train.

VOTE $500,000
TO SIFT CROOKED
WARTIME DEALS

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—The house today passed the bill appropriating $500,000 to the department of justice for prosecution and investigation of war frauds and the creation of a special grand jury in the district of Columbia.

The attitude of the Republican leaders was that the department of justice was crippled by lack of organization and additional funds were necessary to bring together a proper investigation and prosecuting force.

Democratic members of the appropriation committee recalled that there had been three deficiency bills and one

torney General Daugherty's administration and that he had not seen the necessity of an additional force until attacked by Republican members of the house for delay in the prosecution of war fraud cases.

Still After Daugherty.

Representative Woodruff [Mich.] who, with Representative Johnson [S. D.J.], launched the attack on the department for failure to institute suits against profiteers, asserted that it was in the demand for an additional appropriation an effort to block the inquiry proposed by him and Mr. Johnson.

The situation has come to such a pass as to justify a thorough inquiry into the department of justice, he said.

"The type of men in charge of the war fraud cases does not satisfy an impartial public opinion," Woodruff said.

"The designation 'Abram F. Myers' to take charge of the cases, shows to those who are familiar with conditions at the department of justice, a lack of desire promptly to start criminal action and civil cases to force

restitution of money illegally obtained from the government."

Illinois Waxes Bitter.

Representative King [Ill.] said in a speech supporting the appropriation:

"When Attorney General Daugherty permitted himself to be persuaded by the misrepresentations of two of his subordinates, Abram Myers and J. L. Leinman, to dismiss Maj. W. O. Watts, he performed two far-reaching deeds.

"He deprived his department of the efforts of an effective and patriotic servant who had a sincere desire to be of service to his country by failing to unearth and bring to light the most powerful group of grafting Apaches that ever infested and threatened the life of any government.

"Second, he raised the curtain on what promises to be, if justice prevails, the greatest exhibition that ever obtained of thievery, peculation and exploitation of a patient people and their government, surrounded by a scene as black as hell and as rotten as the ancient state of Denmark."

LATINS TRY HALL OF AMERICAS FOR MAGIC OF PEACE

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Before a distinguished audience consisting of practically the whole diplomatic corps of Washington, Secretary of State Hughes today ushered into being the Tacna-Arica conference, called by President Harding in the hope that the longstanding boundary dispute between Chile and Peru could amicably settle.

The conference was called to order in the "Hall of the Americas" in the Pan-American union, where many of the more important meetings of the armament conference delegations were held and where the Shantung treaty was signed by the representatives of Japan and China.

An agreement on this important dispute, Mr. Hughes told the delegates of Chile and Peru, will not only demonstrate your wisdom and lofty conceptions of duty but will furnish the world with a needed and inspiring example of the practice of peace."

The privilege and responsibility of exceptional opportunity rests upon the representatives of the two republics, he declared, pointing out that the American republics were watching the conference with deep interest and fervent hope.

"The only relief for a troubled world is in resort to the processes of reason in lieu of those of force," the secretary continued.

"What is done here will have a lasting effect upon the security and happiness of all peoples, inasmuch as the spirit of the conference through your agreement will wash the world with a needed example."

Of the propriety of the Pan-American union as a seat for the conference, Secretary Hughes said that the building was dedicated to the promotion of good relations among the American states.

There had been witnessed the astounding spectacle of great naval powers voluntarily agreeing to scrap a large proportion of their capital ships and to end the serious competition in naval armament, thus relieving their peoples of an intolerable burden and affording convincing proof of the absence of policies of aggression.

It surely this is an auspicious time to have old wounds and to end whatever differences may exist in Latin America," Mr. Hughes declared. "And there could be no more agreeable harbinger of a better day and of a lasting peace upon this hemisphere than the convening of this conference of the representatives of the republics of Chile and Peru."

The secretary congratulated the delegates on their "spirit of conciliation and conciliatory spirit" which had animated both governments in agreeing to the conference and expressed "the firm conviction that your zealous and well directed endeavors dominated by this friendly spirit will be crowned with complete success."

RADIO CRAZE IN ENGLAND; BARS MAY BE LIFTED

End of Government Ban Contemplated.

BY CHARLES SLOAN.
England apparently has gone radio crazy overnight, even as America did six months ago, if overseas dispatches may be taken as evidence.

Heretofore strict legislation has barred the English from joining the radio fraternity on terms of equality with America. Then, too, there was a lack of broadcasting stations. Now it is to be changed. Public demand is to be so strong, so strong that the British ministry of communications is seriously considering asking for authority to make radical changes in existing statutes.

According to Godfrey Isaacs, managing director of Marconi's Wireless Telegraph company, an important announcement is to be expected as soon as parliament reassembles.

"I only hope the public takes it easily," Mr. Isaacs is quoted. "I don't want to see an epidemic of radio 'flu' here."

"We are ready to go as soon as the government gives the word. We can construct sending stations in any part of Great Britain shortly. I would rather see a policy of renting machines to listeners put into effect, however, than would the policy of selling which now prevails in the United States.

"England, in the next few years, will not be greatly behind America, however."

The Women's Radio League of America, Inc., was founded in New York last week. Plans are being made to establish branches in all other principal cities in the country. Headquarters are now at room 907, X. W. C. A. building, 53rd street and Lexington avenue, New York.

DR. C. A. NEYMAN RESIGNS COUNTY PSYCHOPATHIC JOB

The resignation of Dr. Clarence A. Neymann, superintendent of the Psychopathic hospital, was reluctantly accepted yesterday by the county board following his plea that he be relieved to resume private practice.

The appointment of Dr. Francis J. Gerty, who has been a member of the hospital consulting staff for several years, was approved by the board after DR. CLARENCE A. NEYMAN, a communication from the entire staff, recommending his promotion was read.

"I desire to concentrate, in more detail, on my work in the various hospitals of the city," said Dr. Neymann in his resignation, "and I believe so much of my time will be taken that I cannot give the Cook County Psychopathic hospital, as much time as the administration desires of the superintendent requires. It is my hope to be able to continue to help the psychiatric patients of Cook county, and I will always be willing to work under your direction."

We are ready to go as soon as the government gives the word. We can construct sending stations in any part of Great Britain shortly. I would rather see a policy of renting machines to listeners put into effect, however, than would the policy of selling which now prevails in the United States.

British Get Chinese News Through Belated Use of Public Ledger Dispatches—

Here is a cablegram sent by the London correspondent of the PUBLIC LEDGER

Special Cable Dispatch

Copyright 1922 By Public Ledger Company

"London, May 9

"The British public has depended to a great extent upon the PUBLIC LEDGER'S Far Eastern Service for its information about the recent civil war in China, although no London newspaper is connected with that service.

"Day after day the correspondents of English newspapers resident in the United States have 'picked up' dispatches published in the PUBLIC LEDGER, cabled them to London and, while they do not appear there until twenty-four hours after publication in the PUBLIC LEDGER, they often have proved fresher and more interesting than dispatches sent to London by news agencies and other special correspondents.

"A notable instance occurred today, when the Daily Mail, with the largest daily circulation in the world and a network of correspondents on both hemispheres, led its Chinese news with an article under a New York date line rewritten from the PUBLIC LEDGER."

NOT long ago three men of affairs agreed that the PUBLIC LEDGER has "The Greatest Far East News Service in the World." This is fairly good evidence that they were right.

THE PUBLIC LEDGER expends $20,000 a month for cable news alone, knowing that a superior news service means a superior kind of circulation.

In less than ten years the circulation of the PUBLIC LEDGER has grown from 45,000 to more than 270,000 daily

FARMERS' BLOC BEATEN IN FIRST TEST ON TARIFF

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., May 15.—(Special)—Senate farm bloc Republicans went down to defeat today in the first test of strength on their program of substantial increases proposed in the rates on agricultural products carried in the tariff bill as reported from the finance committee.

The setback came by a close vote when the senate rejected, 28 to 31, the amendment offered by Senator Eliram Johnson [Cal.] proposing a rate of 9 cents a pound on citrate of lime, in lieu of 4 cents as carried in the bill.

Johnson to Fight Again.

Immediately following the rejection of the amendment Senator Johnson gave notice that the farm bloc would demand another record vote on the proposition when the bill is taken up in the senate after the long sitting as a consequence of the whole completes its consideration of the measure.

Defeat of the farm bloc on this proposition, accomplished through a coalition of Democratic senators with the finance committee Republicans, is regarded by some of the Republican organization leaders as conclusive evidence that the bill will not be successful in its announced determination to boost the agricultural tariff rates all along the line.

Leaders of the bloc did everything in their power to muster their full voting strength. At an early hour this morning they were at work paving the way for the bill. Three delegations for their members who were absent, and they prevailed upon some Democrats, who would not vote for the increase because of their party records for low rates, to remain away when the roll was called.

Farmers' Bloc.

Five Republicans, who have never been counted as members of the farm bloc, voted with it for the higher duty on citrate of lime, but even with those recruits there was a majority of three votes against them. The five Republicans and the 11 who were Senators Medill McCormick [Ill.], Carroll S. Paige [Vt.], Truman H. Newberry [Mich.], George H. Moses [N. J.], and James W. Wadsworth [N. Y.].

Altogether twenty-five Republicans voted for the increase. The three Democrats who joined them are all members of the farm bloc. Senators Ashurst [Ariz.], Kendrick [Wyo.], and Broussard [La.].

BUSH SCOUTS N. Y. FEARS OF LAKES TO OCEAN CANAL

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., May 15.—(Special)—The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association, in a statement issued here today, quotes Irving P. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal company of New York, to refute arguments by New Yorkers that the proposed St. Lawrence seaway would injure New York.

"The port of New York," said Mr. Bush, "has little to fear in the way of competition from the Great Lakes ports in the event the St. Lawrence program is carried through."

"In this," the Tidewater association says, "Mr. Bush is quite right, for the use of the hydro-electric power developed on the St. Lawrence river would greatly quicken every industry in the state, and thereby swell the commerce of our proud metropolis.

More Proofs Added.

"We quote further from Mr. Bush: 'Cargoes from Europe to America are not bulk cargoes, and, as a matter of fact, steamers already entering New York city return with but half filled holds but find in their passage sufficient freight eastbound to make this sort of westbound business fairly profitable.'

"So it seems that the question of return cargo which opponents of the St. Lawrence route contend makes the seaway impracticable is just as serious in New York. Any new country exporting foodstuffs and heavy manufactured goods always finds its imports are of less tonnage. The problem is the same at all American ports."

"Old Erie Canal a Failure."

"Mr. Bush continues: 'There has been a good deal of talk about the success of the New York barge canals. It has cost a great many millions of dollars, but I do not believe it can be called a success today. When DeWitt Clinton built the old Erie canal it acted as a stabilizing influence on railway competition, but as a carrier proposition I do not think that the New York barge canals can be reckoned an economic success.'

"Why should the western shipper be compelled to navigate in economic failure?" Mr. Bush also doubts the utility of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway. As above noted, he owns terminals in New York.

Caveat Stops Probate of Croker Will in Ireland

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

DUBLIN, May 15.—Proceedings toward the probate of Richard Croker's will have been halted by the entrance of a caveat in behalf of Richard Croker Jr. and Ethel White, both of New York. The effect of this caveat is that the will becomes a contention and nothing can be done in Ireland toward granting a probate until it comes before the final stage of a higher court and a decision is given on the points raised by the caveat.

Building for the Future

IN its determination to continue rendering a maximum service to the 28 million people of 11 states, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is mindful of the fact that these people will need gasoline and lubricating oils in continually increasing quantities as the years go by.

During the past two years the number of automobiles registered in this territory shows an increase of over 35%.

Missouri	244,363	343,386
Wyo.	236,290	342,060

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) interprets efficient service to the community to mean the production of vast quantities of gasoline and lubricating oils of highest quality, for high quality can be of definite service to the consumer only when he can obtain the products he needs when he wants them.

The comprehensive distribution system maintained by this Company makes this possible, for the Company has brought into play every unit of its enormous manufacturing and distributing organization, from the refinery to the bulk station, to the dark green tank wagon that patrols the highways and byways.

As the need for increased facilities becomes apparent, the Board of Directors of this Company expands its activities, not merely to meet the immediate need but always to keep a step ahead.

It is this anticipatory service which has made this Company a leader in its field.

Pinchot Will C
Old Gu

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 15.—While all parties are still in the primary race at tomorrow's primaries, two outstanding candidates are Attorney E. Alter and Gifford Pinchot. Wharton Pepper and James J. Burke are also in the race.

Although political trustworthiness is indicated by Alter and Pepper, not be predicted with assurance.

A great many voters in the state are registered in the old Republican party and will be affected by the results of the primary election.

The Pepper-Burke angle: Pepper is supported by many Republicans, while Alter is supported by a number of active Pinchot supporters.

The campaign has many phases. Women's organizations which work in various organizations and other associations. The heads of church departed from issued appeals in behalf of Pepper. Following the election, Pepper's supporters are supporting Alter.

That Vacation Land you've never seen

By AN EASTERNER

THERE'S a strange land in your country, unlike any other that you've ever seen—and it's the greatest summer playground that world-wide travelers have ever visited.

"Different" from the moment that you enter till you leave it—and enchanting, everywhere you look.

Lofty mountains, some rugged, some smooth. Hundred-mile views from peaks that you can climb, or from mile-high trolley lines or motor roads.

Fertile valleys on one side—a desert like Sahara on the other.

Mountain lakes and trout streams, golfing, sea bathing, tennis camping, hikes in wildernesses, missions, dancing or the theatre.

All within a stone's throw of the ninth city in size in the United States!

That is Southern California—the greatest vacation land that you have missed.

Perhaps you think it warm there during summer. It is warm and balmy, but how warm?

Temperature

The average mean temperature in Southern California for the past 44 years (U. S. Weather Bureau) is as follows: June, 68—July, 75—August, 71—September, 69.

The same records show that a great city in the center of this section has on the average only one day of June, two days in July, three in August and three in September when the thermometer touches or exceeds 90 degrees.

The air is usually dry, so higher temperatures are sometimes here than would be comfortable in the East when conditions are similar.

Southern California averages 360 days of sunshine. Summer is the rainless season so you can plan on perfect weather for your fun.

An Invaluable Change

Vacations are of value to the extent that they provide a change of scene, environment and interest—so most physicians say. They say also that whole families need this change.

I—an easterner—first went to Southern California in the summer on the advice of a physician who had been there.

I went first for my health. But for each succeeding six summers I went to see sights and enjoy experiences and diversions that I had never known until I found this wonderland of summer.

I found there 4,000 miles of motor highways, paved like city streets, leading to a myriad places filled with that rare charm of unfamiliarity and difference—scenery, people and occupations—that always is suggested by the phrase, "a trip abroad."

In fact, I found each year in Southern California "a trip abroad in my own United States."

And so can you, who wish to do so—and at a very reasonable cost.

Go Now

The thing to do is go now, while you may. Go see these things that you have never seen. There's real rest in the newness of a change like this.

Let the entire family have this great trip this summer. It will be a life-long source of pleasure to you.

Special low-rate, round trip fares now in effect—No more War Tax.

Ask any railroad ticket agent for further information, or mail coupon below.

If you go to Southern California but once and stay only two weeks you'll never regret it—you'll say it's the best trip of your life.

YOUTHFUL CUE MASTERS READY FOR TITLE DUEL

BY JOE DAVIS.

America's two young billiard masters, Jake Schaefer and Welker Cochran, will start play tonight in their 1,500 point match for the world's 18-2 balkline championship, held by Schaefer. They will play 500 points each night, starting at 8 o'clock, at $100 a game.

Both have trained assiduously, doing a reasonable amount of work at the table each day and at other periods taking exercise in the open air. Both are reported in fine physical condition.

Schaefer, by reason of his performance in the world's championship last fall and his subsequent wins over Hoppe in their challenge, is favored by those who study the dope, the odds being given in one place at 10 to 7. The match will be played at Orchestra hall starting tonight.

Side Lights on Principals.

While both men now claim San Francisco as their residence, Jake is a Chicago born boy and Welker Cochran, who was born at Manson, Ia., was sent to Lane High school here by his father, so he could take billiard lessons from the late Prof. Lansing Perkins. Cochran started playing when he was about 11 years of age, and Jake a little later. Cochran is 26 months older.

Little has been published on the work of the principals in their preparatory work. Cochran made a good move in going to St. Louis and putting himself in the hands of the veteran Charles C. Peterson. Cochran has been criticized at times for failure to take kindly to suggestions made by competent teachers, but going to St. Louis he showed he was anxious to benefit by the advice of a fine student of the game.

Jake Confident.

Young Jake is confidence personified. In the early stages of their careers both Cochran and Schaefer had a wholesome respect for Willie Hoppe, but before the last world's tournament Schaefer frequently expressed the belief he could win, and he made good. He will enter tonight's game with the same spirit.

Cochran never has been accused of lack of nerve, but in general his play was not considered as that of Schaefer for the tournaments.

In all championship matches new cloths and cushions are provided and sometimes at the outset the experts find it difficult to get the pace of the table. Conditions tonight will be perfect as it is possible for human ingenuity to make them, and there is every reason to believe that averages will be made, and that some high runs will be made.

Hoppe to See Match.

Both players have attractive styles and are in fine condition, with which they get the visitors running smoothly.

Albert G. Cutler of New York will referee. Indications are there will be a capacity crowd each night. Peterson, Cochran, and a number of St. Louis fans arrived yesterday, and the Mound City men, after seeing Cochran in his practice work, believe he has a royal chance to dethrone the reigning monarch of the cue world.

Willie Hoppe has come from New York, and a number of well known fans from other cities will be present.

SHERWOOD CUP
NET TOURNEY TO OPEN ON MAY 24

The fourth annual Sherwood tennis tournament, will open May 24 at 4 o'clock at the club courts at St. Clair and East Huron streets. Previous tournaments in the three years of the tourney are Samuel Hardy, American Davis cup captain in 1920, who won in 1919; R. H. Burdick, now of Indianapolis, winner in 1920, and W. T. Haynes, winner in 1921.

Entries close Monday, May 22, at 12 o'clock noon. L. J. Lunn, 208 South Wabash, avenges his register. Prizes will be awarded to runners up in both men's singles and doubles. Harry S. Walsh will referee.

Frank O'Connell, mainstay of Hyde Park's net team, featured the opening round of play in the nonmembers' tournament at the South Side Tennis club yesterday. O'Connell captured two matches, losing only three games in the four sets. His doubles partners were Harrison, 6-2, 6-0, and H. Ohlinger, 6-2, 6-1.

In other spirited battles R. Graves beat R. Koerner, 6-4, 6-2; K. Valentine beat P. Watrous, 6-1, 6-0; and H. Mullinger beat C. Nelson, 6-1, 6-1. Play will be resumed today.

MAYO COLLEGE, 2; LOYOLA, 1.

Its first defeat of the season came against the prep. 2 to 1 at Loyola. Mayo squared off in two runs, the Old Top 1 with I. Walsh and the Loyola 10 out of two games. Some 3,000

HYDE PARK, 2; LINDBLOM, 0.

Hyde Park trounced Lindblom, 2 to 0, in a contest at City Field. Weber of Hyde Park held Lindblom to four hits. Score: Hyde Park, 100 100 8-2 4-2. Batteries—Weber and Hanaway; Marks and Connally.

PARKER, 8; BOWEN, 3.

Parker High trounced Bowen, 8 to 3, in the south section, for its fourth consecutive win. Parker, 300 050 -8-12 4. Bowen, 200 001 0-3 6-5. Batteries—Thompson and Powers; Reiter and Sonnenborn.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Playing at Folger's last night, Messersmith defeated Gamble, 75-35. Barnes will play Ward, 40-50, and Rourke, 40-50, in tonight's matches.

GASOLINE ALLEY—A BIT OF INTERFERENCE, SKEEZIX

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

MORVICH VS. MAN O' WAR.

S Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby, another Man o' War?

The Wake thinks an affirmative answer at this time would be premature. While Morvich was not called upon to do his best, the field opposed him in the race was not below the standard of some previous years.

Morvich conclusively proved one thing—that he can go at least one and one-quarter miles. He looked as if he could go on. That remains to be proved. Man o' War not only was great at a mile but he excelled at the longer distance—in fact, holds the American records for 1½, 1¾, and 1½ miles. He also held the record for a mile, made in a race, of 135 4-5 unless later it was reduced 1-5 second by Audacious.

Man o' War, in his two years of racing before being retired to the stud, has earned a mark as the greatest money winner on the American turf, $249,461, and stands as the record holder and was beaten once in his 2 year old form afterwards regarded as a fluke.

Naturally the greatest problem would be the expense of getting the best boys from other sections to come here, and this has been solved by a plan evolved by the W. G. A. directors.

Honor Chick's Race.

In honor of Chick Evans, who rose to his present position from the caddie ranks, it is planned to stage the first event on his home course at Edgewater.

Mrs. Gates still plans now under consideration involve a prize given by the association to the boy champion of a university scholarship. "We hope to have a fund by which we can arrange for the total cost of a college education for the winning boy," he said. "The fund can be put in trust for him by the Western Golf association until he has finished his common and high school education."

Browning Ties Zeller.

Franklin N. Browning, whose father was a famous cricketer here thirty years ago, and C. F. Zeller for the low net score for the Western. Coal comes from the initial tournament of the Chicago Gold Trade association yesterday at Oak Park Country club. They had totals of 165 and will play off at the next tournament.

Browning had lost not in the morning round, 105-84-81, Zeller with 94-12-82 being second and C. H. Kimball, 104-16-83, third. In the afternoon Guy N. St. Clair, club champion, had low gross 91. M. E. Schoenthaler had 100 gross and E. R. Sorenson 109.

No Temperamental Star.

Around the Block stable they call Morvich the "boy with the $1,000,000 temper." As he entered here to stand after winning the Derby the crowd surged on the track from the infield, sweeping away the police and pushing and jostling almost to the colt's flanks. Instead of prancing nervously Morvich never noticed it. He had done his part, showed no excitement, and seemed to regard it all as a matter of course.

Works Harder Than Colt.

After the Derby an observer who viewed the race from behind Owner Block's box remarked: "Why, Block worked harder in that race than the colt did. He watched the race through field glasses and he was hand-riding all the way, while Morvich's jockey was not. His collar wilted and after his finish his hand shook so he could hardly light a cigarette."

NATIONAL CADDY GOLF TOURNEY FOR CHICAGO

FREY DOES HOLE IN 1

HEY does hole in one," club yesterday when he sank his midiron on the fourth hole at the Evanston club. The hole is a 195 yard shot and has a par 2. Frey, a guest, was playing in a foursome with Tom Brown Jr. and Messers. Schaefer and Bengleier. Frey's performance is the second of its kind in the history of the Evanston club, the only other one being scored three years ago by Joe Bend, who sank his tee shot on the twelfth hole.

To carry the game of golf more vitally into the activities of American boyhood, the Western Golf Association is planning to stage a national caddy boy championship in Chicago this summer. President Gates of the Western G. A. and his associates believe all difficulties can be overcome.

Naturally the greatest problem would be the expense of getting the best boys from other sections to come here, and this has been solved by a plan evolved by the W. G. A. directors.

Honor Chick's Race.

In honor of Chick Evans, who rose to his present position from the caddie ranks, it is planned to stage the first event on his home course at Edgewater.

Mrs. Gates still plans now under consideration involve a prize given by the association to the boy champion of a university scholarship. "We hope to have a fund by which we can arrange for the total cost of a college education for the winning boy," he said. "The fund can be put in trust for him by the Western Golf association until he has finished his common and high school education."

Browning Ties Zeller.

Franklin N. Browning, whose father was a famous cricketer here thirty years ago, and C. F. Zeller for the low net score for the Western. Coal comes from the initial tournament of the Chicago Gold Trade association yesterday at Oak Park Country club. They had totals of 165 and will play off at the next tournament.

Browning had lost not in the morning round, 105-84-81, Zeller with 94-12-82 being second and C. H. Kimball, 104-16-83, third. In the afternoon Guy N. St. Clair, club champion, had low gross 91. M. E. Schoenthaler had 100 gross and E. R. Sorenson 109.

No Temperamental Star.

Around the Block stable they call Morvich the "boy with the $1,000,000 temper." As he entered here to stand after winning the Derby the crowd surged on the track from the infield, sweeping away the police and pushing and jostling almost to the colt's flanks. Instead of prancing nervously Morvich never noticed it. He had done his part, showed no excitement, and seemed to regard it all as a matter of course.

LOOK OUT IN FRONT

The Woman He Forgot
By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Clayton, beautiful and young, although the mother of a 19 year old son, returns to England after an exile of seventeen years, when she learns her son, Bill, is having an intimate love affair with his maid, Helen Markey, a woman years older than she. Nora's real name is Eileen. She is a widow, with two young sons to Lucien Thorpe, whom she loved and by Capt. Fairchild, who loved Nora, into believing his young wife had been killed in a bad railway accident, and she allowed her husband and friends to believe she had been killed.

The day after returning to England Nora meets her son, Bill, who is now blind, at the station. His friend, Fanny Flute, Lucien does not recognize her. She and Bill are friends, and by Capt. Fairchild, who loved Nora, into believing his young wife had been killed in a bad railway accident, and she allowed her husband and friends to believe she had been killed.

The day after returning to England Nora meets her son, Bill, who is now blind, at the station. His friend, Fanny Flute, Lucien does not recognize her. She and Bill are friends, and by Capt. Fairchild, who loved Nora, into believing his young wife had been killed in a bad railway accident, and she allowed her husband and friends to believe she had been killed.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII.

"I expect she's gone upstairs. Run up and fetch her, Lucien. We might have a short rubber. She's probably reading. It's the little room next to the blue bedroom. You know."

The door of the sitting room was ajar, and when he knocked and there was no response, Lucien thought that perhaps Nora had fallen asleep. Through the crack he caught a hazy glimpse of the fire, and it might have tempted her to an after dinner nap. He pushed open the door slowly, but was no one in the room. Some of Nora's belongings were lying about—things that she always took with her even for short holidays. A few books were scattered on the table, and the photograph of Bill at the age of 19 in a silver frame. Beside Bill's photograph lay a worn suede case made like a book with a gold clasp. Somehow this article caught Lucien's attention. He stared at it curiously, then looked toward the door. Farther down the hall he could hear the voices of the young people at their game, but there was no sound but the crackle of the freshly made fire. He went to the adjoining bedroom and hurried to the sinking boat.

Refuse to Give Names.

The rescued men did not give their names to the boy heroes, but hurried away.

The boys were playing in the gardens of Mrs. Drew, which extend down to the lake, when suddenly one called, "A boat has tipped over! The men are drowning!"

The boys obtained a canoe and Ambrose and James paddled out to the sinking boat.

"Nora!"

No answer. It did not occur to him that the immense riddle her existence had propounded to him? There was no consciousness of such a thing in his mind as he went slowly toward the table and picked up the curious looking case. At first he just looked at it as though it were an interesting puzzle. Then he put out a forefinger and touched it. When finally he picked it up his eye closed mechanically, as they so often did when he wanted to see more easily. Once again he was a blind man and the thing he held in his hands was familiar. He knew that the gold clasp was a secret device, really, and concealed a spring. The little case, which looked like a book, could only be opened by one who knew where to feel for the spring. Years ago he had thought of the idea himself, and told the jeweler's man just how it was to be inseparable.

He gently touched one of the tiny gold screws which fastened the device, and the case flew open. Now he needed his eyes, and was glad to have the use of them. He looked down. There it lay in a bed of ivory satin—a miniature of himself which he had given Eileen as a brooch present so many years ago. He had never beheld it with his eyes before, and his first feeling was one of astonishment that the artist had portrayed him as such a handsome young man.

How on earth had his gift to Eileen come into Nora Clayton's possession? The shock of discovering it made him feel literally faint. The blood drained from his face, and he caught at the table to steady himself. It was so incomprehensible; cruel, too.

The door opened again, revealing Nora with her cloak clutched together, her hands hidden from his view, her eyes bright with alarm.

"You had no right!" she gasped.

"I think I had," he replied in a whisper. "Where did you get it, Nora?" For a full moment she made no reply, and into that interval he packed as much hard thinking as some people manage in a lifetime. Was she ready to tell Lucien that she was his wife? Did she ever want him to know? He was rather stupid. There were dozens of things for him to put together which spelled the truth, but it seemed that he was incapable of arranging them intelligently. It was incredible he did not make his meaning clear to the policeman.

She waited for him to guess if not accuse her, but all he asked was how she had come into possession of the miniature. And then she remembered the circumstances in which she had told, literally true, that she had been in Italy at the time of the railway smash in which Eileen was supposed to have perished. She had not said in what part of Italy. Why not make him answer his own question?

"Can't you guess?" she asked. "Isn't it plain enough to you how I came by that charming miniature of yourself?"

"Yes, I knew her."

"Now dear, please sit down. I want to talk to you. We must thrash this out. There are so many things we must discuss. Funny will understand. She has come up here to find you, and she won't mind a bit if we leave her for a while. Nora, I've felt that Eileen had come between you and me, but hadn't the vaguest idea how it could have happened. This gives me a clew. The train accident occurred at Ardello, about twenty miles from Rome. Were they there?"

"Yes, I was."

She shrank very sharply as he tried to take her hand. "That's all right. Sit down, Lucien. You look tired."

She edged around and slid into a chair, feeling not merely tired herself, but exhausted.

"Why didn't you tell me, Nora?"

"I saw no reason."

"That's why you were so strange and standoffish the first night we met. You'd scarcely speak to me, if you remember. You knew who I was?"

"Yes, I knew."

"Didn't you judge me unheard?"

"And you judged your wife blindly."

He winced. "I was a blind man at that time."

"You were no more in the dark than she was. Perhaps I seem to be holding a brief for your wife, Lucien. Perhaps I am. I can only see her side of the case as she lay in the hospital, badly hurt, looking into a blank future, in case I'm wrong."

Lucien shaded his eyes.

"And I suppose you saw that man—Fairchild—who sent me the telegram when it was all over?"

"Your wife was alone with her baby. Quite alone. I sent the telegram. We wanted it sent in the name of Fairchild. She felt that it would keep you from troubling about her any more."

"You mean that Fairchild wasn't with her?"

"And you were there!"

He rested his hand on his hands in an attitude of deep dejection.

"And that's why you refused to marry me—because you felt I had been lost to my first wife?"

"Partly."

"You are hard, Nora. It was so long ago and she is dead now these many years. You can't expect me to tell you my side of the story. It would be unfair."

"I don't know," Nora said doubtfully. "Why not? She told me everything, and to this day—I should say until the end—she could not understand what she had done to you. She only knew that she was disgraced and cast out without reason. It seems strange that you should do such a thing, Lucien. Wasn't you the one?"

The wistful note which had crept into Nora's voice puzzled him. She didn't love him or she wouldn't plead for another woman like that. She might be sorry, but his knowledge of human nature told him that if she loved him again, it was Eileen's cause her own.

"Of course I was fond of her," he said a little angrily.

But he would not, and she rather respected him for his silence. Whatever it was that had made him turn on his wife in that mad fashion he would say nothing against her now. It was plain, however, that he still cherished his wife.

They talked for some time in a desultory way. Thorpe asked questions concerning his wife's supposed death, and she answered them as best she could without inventing unnecessary details. But all the time a daring plan was forming in her mind. Her greatest resentment against him now lay in his ignorance of any mention of his child. She knew the terrible charge which had been brought against her—that Billy was not his son—and whenever she thought of it she trembled with anger. The way seemed paved for a further revelation, but at a great cost to herself.

4 EVANSTON BOYS
SAVE THREE MEN
FROM LAKE DEATH

Paddle in Canoe Out to Overturned Craft.

Four Evanston boys, two of them Boy Scouts, yesterday rescued three men from the lake when their fishing boat capsized several hundred yards offshore.

The boys are: Irvin Smeeter, son of Cecil Smeeter, 650 Michigan avenue, member of Boy Scout troop No. 1; Ambrose Drew, son of Mrs. Herbert Drew, 707 Sheridan road; Adyn Schuyler, son of A. E. Schuyler, 700 Michigan avenue, and James Henderson, son, 708 Monroe street.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING?

FOUR UNDER 18
ELOPE; SECOND TIME FOR TWO

Court orders and state parents proved no obstacle to the romance of Miss Florence R. Lietzow, 18, daughter of Fred W. Lietzow, treasurer of the Natural Dry Milk company, and Frank Q. Boyle Jr., 18 years old, according to a petition to annul their second marriage filed in Superior court yesterday by attorneys for Lietzow, who lives at 1434 Pratt street, the girl again succumbed to the "blameless causes and persuasions" of young Boyle and they were married in Waukegan.

And now Boyle Sr. asserts his son also took Howard Fish, son of Mrs. Jessie M. Fish of the Somerset hotel, and Miss Leslie Lundstrom, daughter of a north shore hotel owner, to Evanston, where the pair, neither of whom is over 17 years old, were married Saturday. The couple are probable in the Fish romance, according to Mrs. Fish, who admitted her son had been married.

This is a "Treasure Island" kind of story from the pen of Gouverneur Morris, who knows how to write. He has given it an unusual twist that the director has deftly handled, with the result that you have a good time capped with a surprise at the picture's finish.

About all I can tell you of the plot without spoiling your interest in it when you see the film, is to say that it has to do with hidden treasure, stolen planes, and a nice, clean little romance entwined with the story.

The young players are impersonated by Helene Chadwick and Richard Dix. Miss Chadwick is to me one of the most appealing of the screen players. She seems real and wholesome; has a lovely smile, and isn't afraid of work. She never gets gooey. I can imagine almost any regular man being crazy about her.

Mr. Dix is good looking, with a twinkle. A nice, little, young fellow, who wipes up the earth with his enemies with the air of confiding to you on the side: "This isn't as bad as it looks—don't get scared." He's never gooey, either, but takes life as it comes to him in the pictures with a certain wry interest for whatever may befall. It's a cool, good pedal.

Miss Chadwick and Mr. Dix are blessed in the present case with good support, photography, and direction. All combined make it a pleasure to recommend "Yellow Men and Gold."

The Photoplaywrights' League, member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and of the Affiliated Picture Interests sends in the following communication:

"Will H. They will sail on May 31 for France to spend the summer at Tours and next winter traveling in France and Italy. Mr. Drake, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Drake, will continue to study economic conditions abroad in the New York Tribune, and his wife, formerly Miss Anne Keith of Fairfax, Va., will illustrate the stories. Mrs. Drake also will study. According to the present plans, young couple expect to spend seven years on the other side. The other Mr. and Mrs. Drake and their son, George, will spend the summer at Lake Geneva.

George Pratt of New Orleans, has been the guest of Mrs. Benson F. Taylor of 10 East Schiller street for a fortnight; has returned of HARRY LEE WILLIAMS and his daughter, the Misses Virginia and Rowena, returned from a three months' trip abroad. Miss Lucretia Green, of 1211 Astor street, who accompanied the Williamses abroad, is remaining on the other side for the summer with Miss Adelie Pierce, daughter of Mrs. and Miss Charles Ingalls, of 1237 Astor street.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Waller of 120 Astor street, who returned recently from a Mediterranean cruise, are at French Licks Springs for a two weeks' stay, after attending the Derby at Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ogle of 5337 Park boulevard have returned from a four months' visit with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ogle of Pasadena, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Heissler of 209 Sheridan road have left for the east to attend the graduating exercises at Oakmere school, Orient Point, Manhasset, L. I. Their daughter, Dorothy Blanche Heissler, is a member of the senior class.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Spiegel, who have been in the city for the winter, have opened their house at 1343 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette.

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Noyes, who spent the spring at the Hotel Ambassador, after being in Florida all winter, have opened their residence at the Club club for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Patricia Evans, will leave on June 1 to spend the summer with relatives in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tietgen are sending congratulations upon the birth of a son on May 13 at Michael Reese hospital.

The Black Crepe Frock Now Decked with Color.

by Corinne Lowry

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Where is the all black crepe of last summer? The answer is immediate. It has disappeared under the impress of various embroideries and other touches of color. This is, in fact, an embroidery spring, and we have levied upon various lands for the motifs which supply our cheery notes of color. There is the profound Russian influence exerted upon Paris by the fugitive archduchesses who are now working in the great dressmaking ateliers of Paris. We see in gorgious designs reflected in many types of dress and millinery.

Along with this comes the Persian inspiration translated, especially by Lanvin, in suits of natural kasha cloth, and contributing—not to one or her blue serge models—pointed yokes and sleeves that are reminiscent of old Chinese embroidery motifs and also appear. So are Balkan designs. And our own American Indian art is the pattern source of a number of stunning kitted garments and sweaters.

Today we show a black crepe de chine gown with unusual sleeves which draws, not upon embroidery, but upon contrasting color and lace for its touch of color. For the first time it is finding its way into sets with deep bands of soft-tinted wool lace. The same model may be carried out in white crepe with colored front section.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(Special Correspondence)—Despite their belated return to the White House at midnight last night, the President and Mrs. Harding are observing daylight saving this morning at the White House today. This morning the White House workers an hour earlier than usual and the entire schedule was put forward an hour.

Mrs. Harding is making plans for a garden party early in June, at which the patients from the military and naval hospitals in the vicinity of Washington will be guests. This probably will be the only garden party at the White House this season, as the winter has set in so late that it has been found impracticable to arrange for the usual group of al fresco festivities which are usually a feature of the spring season.

The new ambassador of Germany, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, arrived in Washington today.

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SITS IN WASHINGTON

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Preliminary sessions which took place today in advance of the annual convention of the chamber of commerce of the United States, which opens tomorrow, included a meeting of the national council composed of one representative from each state organization. The chief business transacted was the selection of seventeen members of the board of directors.

The national council approved the program as arranged by the board of directors for the convention. Meyer Rothschild, who has been active on behalf of wholesale jewellers' organizations in urging a statesman's thought to have been voted to agree upon a motion for the discussion of taxation with Senator Smoot (Utah), advocate of the sales tax, as one of the speakers. His motion was defeated.

Chicago in Role of Host.—A resolution to designate was given tonight by Joseph H. De Fries of Chicago, president of the chamber.

The first general session of the convention takes place tomorrow morning with Mr. De Fries and Arthur Balfour, vice president of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, as the chief speaker.

Resolutions for approval of the convention were proposed by a considerable number of member organizations. One of all excise taxes is favored in a resolution submitted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Urge Roads Program.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce also proposes a resolution urging the continuance of adequate highway and maintenance programs by the several counties, states, and the nation.

Amendment of anti-trust laws respecting special privileges given labor unions had in a resolution submitted by the Kansas City (Mo.) chamber of commerce.

LEGION NOTES*DETROIT NOW HAS BIGGEST CAR LINE OWNED BY A CITY

Detroit, Mich., May 15.—Without an interruption in service or ceremony of any kind the city of Detroit today came into possession of the entire street railway system, taking over the lines of the Detroit United Railway Company, whose the company receives $18,850,000. The properties taken over embrace 273 miles of track and 1,029 cars.

Consolidated with lines already built by the city and cars already owned, the city acquires a system of 363 miles of track and 1,457 cars, giving it the largest municipally owned street railway system in the world.

With the properties, the city took over the platform crews of the railway company and many of its office and shop employees. The Detroit United will continue to operate the interurban lines under an agreement to carry no local passengers.

DRIVERS DEAD ON OWN STEPS.
While going down the steps of her home yesterday Mrs. May Dorff, 34 years old, 1221 North Western, dropped dead, supposedly of heart disease.

The last meeting of the season of Castle post will be held Thursday evening in the Electric Club rooms, Morrison hotel. A dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by a committee meeting and radio concert.

The American Legion headquarters, 203 Conway building, have been asked to help in recovering the lost discharge of Private Louis Smith, former member of 5th development battalion, Company H.

TRAFFIC CLUBS OF 80 CITIES TO FORM ONE BODY

Traffic clubs of eighty American cities are to unite in a strong national body to handle transportation and legislative problems, it was decided at a meeting yesterday in the Hotel La Salle of representatives of forty of the clubs, hitherto social.

A constitution will be submitted to day and officers elected. Traffic officials of railroad and industrial concerns are members. The new organization will be well fitted to educate the public on traffic problems, asserted Henry A. Palmer of Chicago, editor of the Traffic World. W. L. Banham, traffic manager of the Old Elevator company of New York, was temporary chairman.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Those who expected that the statement of Julius H. Barnes showing that he had no interest in May wheat and calling upon the Board of Trade to enforce its rules were disappointed, as prices at their lowest were only off 2¢ and at the last but one. The selling came from all parts of the market, one grain dealer saying that his sales were only off 1¢ and 15¢. Mr. Barnes has had no interest in the May wheat for some time except in the way of hedges, and these are usually to have been removed. The trade was mostly in a margin mood part of the day, but made little headway, as distant futures closed higher.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade held a special meeting yesterday to consider the Barnes statement and decided on the Capper-Tincher bill. No statement was given out regarding the Barnes letter to the board's officials. The board rules provide for all cases like the present, and officials said the usual procedure would be to refer the decision maker, section 3, which prevents trading in privileges, and section 9, covering investigations, operations. The balance of the bill is inoperative and its powers nullified.

The decrease of 1,965,000 bu on wheat on May 15, left the total at 40,880,000 bu under last year's world's shipments increased 2,855,000 bu and are nearly 6,000,000 bu under last year's.

Contract stocks of wheat in public elevators in Chicago Saturday night aggregated 4,670,000 bu; corn, 3,751,000 bu, and oats, 5,703,000 bu. For the week wheat increased 722,000 bu, corn decreased 57,000 bu and oats 795,000 bu.

Rules of the Board of Trade provide for fixing a settling price on all unsettled trades at the maturity of a delivery, based on the commercial value of the grain. This has been enforced under all conditions. A penalty of 1 or 10 per cent can be imposed on any person who fails to pay the difference between the actual value and the settled value at the maturity. Other well posted men say there can be no settling price fixed until there is something to settle. A committee was asked to what a fair price for corn for the 2 bushel barrel wheat in Chicago today said about $1.30 would be right. This with 5 per cent pen-

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter showed a firmer tendency in all markets. Offerings were not large and demand was slightly better, especially in California. A little shelling of butter was done by Philadelphia dealers. Butter sold slowly at about unchanged prices despite the firmness of many markets.

July corn is getting support from local buyers and from local interests, one grain dealer saying that his sales were only off 1¢ and 15¢. Mr. Barnes has had no interest in the May wheat for some time except in the way of hedges, and these are usually to have been removed. ## FINANCIAL NOTES

Although Lackawanna Steel closed unchanged yesterday, the stock during the early trading established a new high for the year at 80¢. The buying during the early dealing, which was the stock under consideration of the week, was during the closing days of last week on the report that the terms under which Lackawanna would be taken over by Bethlehem would make the stock sell between 86¢ and 90¢ a share. The first intimation that the company would be taken over by Bethlehem came last Thursday, when the stock was selling 60¢. Since then there has been no advance of more than 10¢ a share without any official news as to terms. This, however, did not hinder speculation. In fact, financial traders glorified the absence of official news, contending that the official silence gave the official of Lackawanna for not giving stockholders some information of the terms, especially in view of the fact that it had been officially announced that they had been agreed upon.

It is rumored in steel trade circles that the leading factor in the trade as well as the independents, will, within the next few weeks, demand prices on the basis of 80¢ a ton. In many instances higher prices are expected to result from the recent sharp increase in demand. The sharpest advance so far is for in the market, and according to reports, will call for an increase of 85¢ a ton. This product is now selling at $106 a ton, compared with a recent low of $103 a ton, and a price of $201 in August, 1920. It is believed that the market in the future will be entirely too large, and the question as to how compensation was remanded with instruction.

The validity of the New York state law, passed on Jan. 1, 1921, requiring oil companies to pay a tax of 8¢ a barrel on oil produced, was decided by Justice McKeynole in eight cases brought by the state against the Consolidated Gas company and its subsidiaries. Allowances made to the master in the case of the gas companies were too large, and the question as to how compensation was remanded with instruction.

Copper sales for the first half of May, according to estimates made in the trade, were $17,185, before reserves for depreciation and depletion, and $16,900,000, or 90,000,000 tons, or at a rate of 160,000,000 pounds for the month. It is further estimated that it sales for both domestic and export account since the beginning of the year were in the neighborhood of 600,000,000 pounds, or at an annual rate of 1,600,000,000 pounds. In 1921, sales were $17,000,000, or 1,100,000,000 pounds.

The above estimates were partly responsible for the firmness of the copper stocks, but the sharp rise in Kenneth was based on report of the representatives of the company that good will division of the Watters corporation of St. Louis, Mo. The American Can company is understood to hold a controlling interest in the Add-Index corporation.

Zinc stocks went along moderately with the coppers. Latest reports from the zinc industry are that the surplus stocks of metal on hand were reduced another 8,534 tons during April and are now at the lowest point in three years.

RAILROAD NOTES

A special train has arrived at Butte, Mont., over the electrified division of the St. Paul railway, carrying E. W. Hill, chairman, and Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway; Hale Holden, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company. The Interborough Rapid Transit division of the New York city subway system, will be opened to traffic June 1, 1927, and will be offered at 95¢ and interest to over 5%. Directors of the company yesterday raised the quarterly dividend rate to 2% per cent on the common stock, changing the stock from a 7¢ a share to an 8¢ per cent annual basis.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad yesterday lost 1,000 additional men at work in the maintenance of way, roadbed, and bridge department, according to Vice President E. P. Bracken.

Railroads of the United States paid an average salary of $5,422 annually to 8,630 general officers in 1920, compared with $4,508 to 7,354 in 1916.

Lackner, Butz & Company are again able to offer a bond issue of non-fluctuating safety yielding a seven per cent income, at a time when 7% with the Lackner, Butz degree of safety is becoming more and more difficult to obtain. We have been able to secure an issue of this exceptional character because of the constant study we give the mortgage bond market, and by exercising that trained merchandising sense which has proven as great a success factor in the investment field as it has in the mercantile.

Description The Chicago-Clark Building, which is one of the landmarks of Chicago, occupies commanding position in the North Central District in the direct line of the ever-increasing loop expansion. It is located at the northwest corner of Chicago Avenue and Clark Street—one of the busiest corners north of the loop and a very important transfer point.

Income and Valuation The advantages of office or store space in this building are so obvious to all who are acquainted with its pre-eminent position in the North Central District that permanent, profitable rental is assured. The net income, figured on the most conservative basis, is estimated at $110,000, or in excess of three times the greatest amount of interest. A conservative estimate of the value of the land and building is $847,000, or almost twice the amount of the loan.

Unusual A careful study of this property, taking into consideration every fact of present and probable future valuation and income, will only tend to strengthen the conviction of absolute security offered by this unusual mortgage bond issue. A seven per cent return, backed by security of the increasing value of the Chicago-Clark Building, is indeed exceptional, and it is on this basis that we recommend your immediate reservation for part of this issue.

The New York Times.

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—Evidently Wall street's modifications over Saturday night, to which the intrinsic value of two steel companies is increased by swapping shares, or the value of other companies increased by watching the process, had not been reassuring. Today's market opened on the stock exchange with signs of reaction in those shares.

As is usual when professional speculators are trying to take profits on the trend of rise in prices which occurred last week, the first movements of the market were conflicting, but before the day was far advanced the downward movement had become emphatic. At the close most of the "independent steel shares" had lost one-half or more of last week's sudden rise; some had lost the whole.

Try to Bid Up "Oil Stocks."

The professional experts in the present market have not much imagination. All that appeared to occur to them, by way of arresting the break in prices for that group of stocks, was to bid up the "oil stocks" with a show of enthusiasm. But in the market's present point of view, the time was badly done. The oil stocks went down with the rest of the market in the later hours.

Foreign exchange recovered sharply, although European rates advancing with sterling quoted only 4¢ cent under the high point of the season. Opinion doubtless will be divided as to whether this action reflects belief that the futilities of the Génova conference are over, or means that the proposal of another conference has removed some apprehension of an international collision.

Cotton Shoots Up.

The most interesting movement of the day, however, was in the cotton market, which showed a decided recovery from the 1 cent a pound, reaching at 2½ cents, a figure touched on only four days of last autumn's violent recovery. As has been true of that market all along, the propelling force came equally from talk of bad weather conditions for the new crop and from calculations of supply and demand in the old one.

The really important test of cotton trade conditions again had to do with the attitude of the consumers in face of the rise in the raw material. Last October their resistance checked the whole upward movement. There are some signs visible this month of a better market for the finished goods, even at higher prices.

COTTON MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 15.—COTTON—Futures closed strong at net advance of 75¢/100 points. Prices rose on improved trade demand, coupled with reports that further rains in the southwest were seriously delaying farm work. Spot market was steady at 87¢/88 points.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

[Copyright: 1922: By Fitchile News Service.]

NEW YORK.—The new lace gloves recently introduced by a large New York house met with quick success. The first reorders are larger than expectations.

LONDON.—If the tariff schedules in the present bill are enacted, the purchasing of the Associated Merchandising corporation will be materially reduced, says Louis E. Kirstein, an official of the Associated, and a member of William Filene Sons company, Boston department store.

BUENOS AIRES.—Present trading in the Argentine wool market is limited entirely to interior coarse crossbreds. Puna Aire fine crossbreds touched 26½ cents a pound, and coarse crossbreds 11½ cents.

NEW YORK.—A large tire fabric seller withdraws all prices for the present. He anticipates an advance. He says it is impossible to sell profitably on the present basis.

NEW YORK.—Woolen mills apparently are not entirely sure of their market position. They are putting forth extraordinary efforts to encourage business by producing extreme styles in men's wear fabrics.

NEW YORK.—The straw hat season has opened throughout the north with a tremendous business, according to dispatches from various centers. Retailers in general express little fear of early price cutting this year.

PARIS.—Jenny dress models, now of feared for fall export trade, retain fairly short skirts for day time wear. Short jacket, or capelet, and "hatless" neck line are continued. Use of satin and velvet trimming is increased.

NEW YORK.—The cotton gray goods market was quiet. Prices remained unchanged, the following being the basis: for 3½ inch, 64¢/60, 8½¢/84¢; for 39 inch, 68¢/72, 7½¢ yards, the market was 9½¢/94¢; for 72x76, 4.25¢ yards, 10½¢ was quoted. The market for 80x80, 4.00 yards, was 11½¢; for 36 inch, 56x60, 4.00 yards, the quotation was 9¾¢. These prices were merely nominal in view of the rapidly rising cotton market.

NEW YORK.—New parcels prices were named in the primary cotton goods market today on goods for delivery up to September. Light colors were unchanged, the prices being: 38½ inch, 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, 11½¢ a yard; the 39 inch cotton—88x72, 4.75 yard, 13½¢; 72x76, 4.25 yard, 15¢; 75x80, 4.00 yard, 16¢. Darker were ¾ higher, a slight decline from the prices superseded. The development in a rising cotton goods market was the natural result of reductions in certain costs. In view of this same rising market, however, the permanency of the new price hangs in the balance.

Lady Astor Urges Women in Politics—Free Rev. Williamson's Prisoner—Stillman Case Near End

LADY ASTOR SAYS: "Women should get into politics and then fight for the moral issues for which most men fight only when they are poked in the back and made to fight."

PINCHED BY REV. WILLIAMSON. Edward Walters was dismissed yesterday when the Rev. failed to appear in court.

NEW GERMAN AMBASSADOR to the United States, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, waving his hat as he arrived in New York on the S. S. America. He is the first ambassador since Von Bernstorff was recalled.

STILLMAN'S DETECTIVE, Edward Leigh, who testified during the divorce proceedings that he had bought two of Mrs. Stillman's letters for $15,000. [Keystone Photo.]

MRS. ANNE U. STILLMAN in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., after Leigh said he had love letters written to Beauvis. Case goes to referee tomorrow. [Keystone Photo.]

STOPPING A SHELL. The camera caught the 95-pound missile leaving the muzzle of the 155-millimeter Filloux gun, which has a range of 17,000 yards, as it was fired by a detachment of the Fifth Field artillery at Camp Bragg, N. C. [Wide World Photo.]

NOW TO FIND GUILTY FLORIST. Russell J. Poole, high cost expert, with carnations retailed at $1.50 a dozen. They cost the retailer 15 cents a dozen. Poole is investigating.

CHAPLIN'S DOUBLE. M. Buenos, a Spaniard, called the funniest man in Europe, gets many laughs by burlesquing a toreador.

VIRGINIA ADDUCE, one of the girls who will take part in the Women's Trade league parade this week.

SHATTERED ROMANCE LEADS TO DEATH. Fannie Grasswith, 32, who committed suicide at 5310 Wayne avenue yesterday because of a love affair which caused her to leave Richmond, Va., last October.

THE MAN. O. S. Hunsicker, 32, who committed suicide at 5310 Wayne avenue yesterday because of a love affair which caused her to leave Richmond, Va., last October.

GIRL ATHLETE. Elizabeth Stine of N. J. winning running broad jump in girls' meet at Mamaroneck, N. Y. [Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

PRINCESS JULIANA of Holland, heir to the throne, shown in the national costume of the province of Zealand, Flanders.

COMEDIAN GOES IN FOR SOMETHING SERIOUS. Harold Lloyd, well known film actor, will wed Mildred Davis, shown with him. She's his leading lady, and will lead him to the altar in real life.

WILL SEAT 40,000. The beginning of the huge concrete bowl at Michigan City, which will house the lightweight championship battle between Bennie Leonard, the title holder, and Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, challenger, on July 4.

The fans will be dumped off the trains only a few feet from the entrance to the arena. [Tribune Photo.]
